Does it have an orange checkbox next to npmap? If so you already have it, you obtain it once then you have it, it's been so long I forgot Imfao. The payloads and stuff you have to buy, and there is other upgrades like better hacking software I think, faster cooldowns, etc.

Right I remember having that issue too.. I can't remember how you fix it. What level are you?

It may be that you actually need to buy something to even be able to /access/ the store first.

Yeah I didn't know at first was just playing it to pass the time, I did see someone say that the game has just been left mid development so don't think its going anywhere as of now, Think it's been out for a while. Also said most of the tools in the store are useless since its been left as there's what I'm assuming no mission use for them. I don't even do missions I just spam the nasa and spreader small job and buy batteries lmao

Oh damn that sucks, I wonder if someone else can take over the development?

Wait what you have to buy the programs again each time.
This game is long
