What do you think is the best country in The world?

For me its USA

Deany - August 28, 2024, 1:47 am

None. Just give me my own island

Denmark is the best country

- Free Dentist until 18 years old.
- £750 - £1000 paid pr. month for FREE into your bank account while you study.
- If you lose your job, you can get about £2000 pr. month and help from government to find a new job.
- You CANNOT be homeless, only if you reject the governments help.
- Weed is extremely tolerated.
- Incredibly safe.
- Any transportation mode that you like, you will be able to enjoy because of our roads.
- No mountains to climb up and down of.

For what reasons is this, economy or beauty?

The best country is no country, borders and laws are made by 0.1% to control the rest of the world's population, I like a free world.

Spain, in particular Barcelona. 300 days of sunshine a year, siestas, good clubbing, Mediterranean food, lovely beaches, wine, countryside etc

Once upon a time I would have said the US but under Biden/Harris I don't think it's even close anymore.

At this minute El Salvador may not be the best but imo they're heading in the right direction to become one of the best if not the best.

By what aspect should it be determined? You can't go into that kind of question. More specific question please.

Is there a best country anymore? Feels like majority of the world is kind of a sketchy place to exist in nowadays ?

I'm from the UK and can confirm that this is NOT the best country.

- This sounds like a good contender for a pretty decent country tho hahaha.

Japan. If you've never been, I recommend it.

proxygod - August 28, 2024, 10:10 pm

It depends on where you are from actually.

I think there are some countries that you may find good to live in because of their environment, people, nature and weather.

But there are some others whose infrastructure and social welfare is good.

By what metrics? There's plenty of thriving countries with their own cultures that I'm sure are wonderful to live in.
