Have to tried tryhackme? It's a good foundation for all sorts of hacking. I highly recommend!

What are you trying to learn because the term hacking can be quite varied

If you want to learn hacking, but don't know what or why, try browsing YouTube. There are some good educational security-related channels.

You will need a proper operating system such as Parrot OS very advance or Kali Linux not so advance. Then you will need to gather some IP addresses, targets, and various other things.
