I see a lot of news about this country and it's something I'm not used to, refugee problems and police arresting British people etc. What's going on in uk ?

Immigration is causing lot of troubles in the country, and for a reason we don't know, the government and the police protect them :

- Rotherham (1997-2013)
- Rochdale (2000s)
- Telford (1980s-2010s)

Recently 3 little girls died because an immigrant stabbed them, people decided to walk in the street for her memory, then a muslim joined the walk with a knife, men lost their control and it blowed up, then the police came, protected the muslim with the knife and put in jail all honest citizen that are exceeded about these killers.

Immigration is killing the Europe, they come in Europe but they bring what fucked their country, so our countries are going they get fucked too, and the government let them do. Same in France, always the same people that sexually assault, rape, stab, steal and fill the jails.

Import the 3rd world, become the 3rd world.

I think that's what's blew this up even more, I read a few sources saying he wasn't even an immigrant and born in the UK. But since the tensions were already high leading up to the election with Immigrants coming over a good sized community (mostly like EDL ran by Tommy Robinson) just ran with the idea and started riots etc I could be wrong but that's what I read online!

I dedicate my first post on HackForums to agreeing with your post. (I am also an Animal lover, if you will excuse the pun).

Rudakubana was a popular name given to natives during the 17th century in the UK. Completely forgot about that—thanks, guys! ?

People say England is a 1st world country, I have lived here for 7 years and literally moving away in less than a month, because of how it is now. This is a 4th world country where you go outside and the risk of getting robbed and stabbed is higher than in majority of other countries.

It's painful that this has been done to England..
