Thread: Does anyone have the leaked Andrew Tate Courses?

?Smurf - August 31, 2024, 1:35 pm

A while ago, someone on HF shared a mega.nz link with pretty much all the course files, i took a quick peak, saved, but didn't bother to download.

Unfortunately, every link about it has been taken down by mega, so i'm not able to view the files anymore and forgot the account i saved them too. I'm curious if anyone still has the files?

Yea i know this is a long shot. Every post on HF no longer has a valid link, and every other "leaked twr course" i found on google is essentially a scam. ?

Yes, and be careful with these types of links, my friend, they are usually dangerous :D

People who would have it, probably wouldn't give it away for free lol.

But I've been wrong about other things.

Just curiosity. I know a lot of what Andrew Tate says is utter BS, and would like to see how likely (or unlikely) his methods are.

Is there really anything worth learning in these courses that isn't essentially just pyramid scheme 101?

Tate essentially makes his money by selling the courses and getting free advertising through his affiliate program. From what I've seen, the content in his courses is similar to what you could easily find from other gurus on YouTube. He's like the modern Tai Lopez in that sense. Personally, I find it interesting not because of what he's saying, but because of why he's saying it and how he's marketing himself.
