Then you came back at the right moment, with other cybersecurity profesionales here on HF we're working on many things within the White Hat section, I've made a lot of threads, you can check my profile.

However, among all of them, you should start to read this thread :

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6263412>

I've made it as I wish I had it when I started to learn 6 years ago (I was almost your age). It will allow you to save a lot of time.

If you have any question related to this field, feel free to ask in the thread or to open your own thread in the white hat section. I receive a notification for every new thread in this section so I'll be here to reply. For every thread, please provide as much details as possible, the more info you give us, the more we're able to guide you

Deany - September 2, 2024, 10:25 pm

Welcome. Hope to see you more active :)

Yeah for sure feel free !

I went back to school at age 24, I did a 2 year degree in 1 year about computers (I guess computer science), then I started to work as a helpdesk tech, I learned from home, building my homelab, practicing online, talking with people, asking for advice on HF, during the time I became sys and network admin, then I added many tasks related to cybersecurity to my work, and now I plan to work as a tier 2 SOC analyst

I remember when I went back to school, I was kinda ashamed because all of my friends already had a good position and I was way older than the other students, but I'm glad I did it, otherwise I wouldn't be where I am today.

You'll see many people in the same case as you and me on the forum, and one day a member told me something that I'll never forget :

"The best time to plant a tree was 25 years ago, the second best time is now."
