Thread: Octoberfest award 2024 - color prediction

Bastille - September 6, 2024, 6:15 am

25/09 UPDATE : The Green color has been choosen (there is no link between Omni's choice and this thread, it was just a prediction thread) get ready for this month guys ! Wish you all to get it !

In case you're not aware about this, it's an event where you can win an award just posting enough on the forum, be careful tho, rules still apply, avoid LQP, spam, and so on. The event starts October 1st and ends the 31th of October.

Here are the previous awards :

Octoberfest 2021 Earn this Pumpkin in October

Octoberfest 2022 Earn this Pumpkin in October

Octoberfest 2023 Earn this Pumpkin in October

During 2021 and 2022 events the objective was 500 posts during the month.

In 2023 we learned that Omni started to increase by 100 every year the number of posts required to get the award, so 2023 was 600 posts and we should see 700 posts for 2024 !

You can now vote which one you think we will get this year, also feel free to share your wishes.

I think that we should limit it to 6 awards, (so that makes an entire row), but I also know that some people missed one or two and have lot of regrets !

As the number of posts increases, I also think that we should limit it to 1000 posts (which is already insane for 1 month).

Here are my predictions :

2024 : Green - 700 posts

2025 : Black - 800 posts (with orange eyes and mouth)

2026 : Gold - 900 posts

So what is your color prediction for 2024 ?

"2025 : Black - 800 posts (with orange eyes and mouth)"

I really hope it is this one(but with 700 posts instead), man 700 posts is so much though haha there is going to be a lot of spam and a lot of loungehead awards handed out ?.

I feel like 5 is a solid number to stop producing the awards then maybe create a member driven contest for the following year that could be creative and a lot of fun!

Money- - September 6, 2024, 6:50 am

I would really prefer black. That's probably the coolest one.

700 sounds a lot but as everyone is trying to get the award the activity increases and it's way easier to reach this amount of posts, last year some members got the award (600 posts) in less than a week, even in 2 days lol

Lmao and here I am hesitant to post sometimes because I don't want to spam/be the only one on all recent posts.

What do you think about once this series is done a member driven contest for the following year that could have people bring their creations and be chosen or voted on? There are soooooo many creative artists on HF.

Silver. Gotta have the shiny shiny silver.

Also 1000 a posts sounds insane. Can you even do that without spamming?

Yellow pumpkin and I will actually go for it this year to go with my yellow gift.

As long as your posts / threads are relevant or make the other members participating feel free to post buddy !

Why not, I think that should be interesting that someone active in the GFX section host this kind of contest

Unfortunately this vote will have no impact on the award chosen by Omni x) Staff has no power on this haha, it's just a thread for predictions :p

1000 is impressive but last year few members reached 600 posts within 2/3 days, so it's far from impossible, you just need to be active, and as everyone is chasing the award it's not that hard to get dozens of posts per day :)

Yeah and there are already many green awards, and green is a color that comes often when there are different colors for the same award, such as :

So that doesn't sound unlikely in my opinion

Good song too.

Benevolence would have yellow usernames if it didn't look too close to l33t.

When in doubt, make it pink. Besides, there's not that many pink awards so it would fit :3

Zalbai - September 6, 2024, 10:46 pm

I'm going to say it right away: This is IMPOSSIBLE. The forum feels lifeless. I actually wanted to post a lot in August, but the problem is that we are no longer in the years 2013-2016. That is simply the fact, as it is. Many users who come online refrain from participating in the communication, and that has enormous disadvantages. Why doesn't anyone want to acknowledge this? To achieve 700 posts in a month, the forum must be bubbling with activity and willingness. Either Omni is ignoring this reality, or he is living in 2014.

Envy - September 6, 2024, 10:46 pm

Well... we have a black hat award, black heart gem award, and black 4/20 leaf award...

You have any idea on how many?
Not at all :/ I'll find out like everyone else.

But if I think about it a little, creating threads is "quite easy." We see it quite often, especially during the Octoberfest event, with what I consider "not relevant" thread topics, such as:

- What's your favorite color?
- Do you have a pet?
- I like potatoes, do you?

For the Satoshi August event, Omni introduced a new way to count threads. You needed to post 1 or 5 threads (I don't remember exactly), and each thread needed 5 replies to be considered valid for the event. I think he might do something similar this time, so we might see fewer "LQ" (low quality) or irrelevant threads. This could align with his recent effort to improve the quality of content on HF: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6278378>

My prediction: 700 posts and 10 threads (with at least 5 or 10 replies for each thread). I think he'll keep the 700 posts limit, even with 10 additional threads, because as more threads are created, it'll be easier to reach 700 posts than without as many threads. However, I'm concerned that more threads could lead to too many on the same topic or encourage people to create LQ or irrelevant threads.

Yes, I'm definitely with you on the LQ aspect as you are describing.

Thanks for the insight, that's pretty helpful to know.

As for the progress, I think you're entirely right, because it's your own thread and keeping activity up that way could increase, instead of always posting on someone else's thread.

Green, huh? Looks nice.

Maybe yellow next year. :)
