

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: [Thread for all to post about wrongfully given popularity points \[+ Idea\]](#)

johnsmith57365420 - September 13, 2024, 9:41 am

I'd like to create a thread for everyone to post about wrongfully given popularity points.

I'd like to point out mine as an example, a person wrote "Nobody cares about your opinion." which is clearly by some rather hateful person rather than based on fact.

Another idea, something for the mods, is to create an appeal for wrongfully given popularity points, if they're biased and something such as hateful (where most people would give negative points to them for hating) or a gang attack (joint attacks on popularity) then you'd be able to appeal them (even for other people if they were wrongfully given positive points).

It'd work like this:

- a) Tick all points which were wrongfully given if it's against the rules.
- b) Provide a link to the conversation or message which provoked the popularity.
- c) If the person who gave the minus (or positive points) is found guilty, they will be given a warning (-1/3) and if they keep doing it, they're banned either permanently or temporarily from giving points.

Post here to start off this revolution for a respectable trustworthy point system and hopefully someone will help balance things out ?

Bastille - September 13, 2024, 9:50 am

If you're talking about this thread <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6234309> I don't think it was wrongfully given ...

You had questions and asked to members, experienced members replied, and as you didn't like the answers you brushed them off.

Complaining about neg rep will only lead to more neg rep ...

Besides, popularity is usually easily given when you +rep someone, he usually +rep back, it's not rare to see people gaining dozens of +rep quickly. You should think about upgrading your account to get the ability to +rep

I got neg repped few times because of stupid things, and to be honest I don't really care, I didn't even neg repped back.

Try to improve your activity here, contribute to the forum, and you'll get +rep easily :)

johnsmith57365420 - September 13, 2024, 9:55 am

(Sep 13, 2024 09:50 AM)Bastille Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If you're talking about this thread <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6234309> I don't think it was wrongfully given ...

You had questions and asked to members, experienced members replied, and as you didn't like the answers you brushed them off.

Complaining about neg rep will only lead to more neg rep ...

Besides, popularity is usually easily given when you +rep someone, he usually +rep back, it's not hard to see people gaining dozens of +rep quickly. You should think about upgrading your account to get the ability to +rep

I got neg repped few times because of stupid things, and to be honest I don't really care, I didn't even neg repped back.

Try to improve your activity here, contribute to the forum, and you'll get +rep easily :)
Honestly it was so long ago I couldn't remember what caused it ?

I'm not going to give a shit about rep, some guy has just given -10 copying the same comment "Nobody cares about your opinion." when I created the thread as a nice gesture ???

People will judge me by my attitude, and to be honest nasty people saying rude things won't negatively impact me, I'm just a bit annoyed about how it might affect me since I'm looking at finding partners on the marketplace.

By the way, mods, this wasn't intended as a thread about asking for rep - that should be clear, and I'm aware of the rule, it was for people to assess each-others reputation.

account_ - September 13, 2024, 9:57 am

(Sep 13, 2024 09:55 AM)johnsmith57365420 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Honestly it was so long ago I couldn't remember what caused it ?

I'm not going to give a shit about rep, some guy has just given -10 copying the same comment "Nobody cares about your opinion." when I created the thread as a nice gesture ???

People will judge me by my attitude, and to be honest nasty people saying rude things won't negatively impact me, I'm just a bit annoyed about how it might affect me since I'm looking at finding partners on the marketplace.

By the way, mods, this wasn't intended as a thread about asking for rep - that should be clear, and I'm aware of the rule, it was for people to assess each-others reputation.

Your welcome hope to see you around the forum.

johnsmith57365420 - September 13, 2024, 10:00 am

(Sep 13, 2024 09:57 AM)account_ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Your welcome hope to see you around the forum.
Oh hey, look! It's a satanist that's been attacking me.

? "account_"

Yeah, they do everything oppositely.

They're in the house next door to me, can't call the police, tried seeing them, it seems like they're being threatened as well.

Like your positive rep ?

Hope my kid tasted nice ?

Deany - September 13, 2024, 5:48 pm

It's just rep dude it means nothing

Purgatory - September 13, 2024, 5:57 pm

(Sep 13, 2024 09:41 AM)johnsmith57365420 Wrote: CITE I'd like to create a thread for everyone to post about wrongfully given popularity points.

I'd like to point out mine as an example, a person wrote "Nobody cares about your opinion." which is clearly by some rather hateful person rather than based on fact.

Another idea, something for the mods, is to create an appeal for wrongfully given popularity points, if they're biased and something such as hateful (where most people would give negative points to them for hating) or a gang attack (joint attacks on popularity) then you'd be able to appeal them (even for other people if they were wrongfully given positive points).

It'd work like this:

a) Tick all points which were wrongfully given if it's against the rules.

b) Provide a link to the conversation or message which provoked the popularity.

c) If the person who gave the minus (or positive points) is found guilty, they will be given a warning (-1/3) and if they keep doing it, they're banned either permanently or temporarily from giving points.

Post here to start off this revolution for a respectable trustworthy point system and hopefully someone will help balance things out ?

I understand getting neg repped isn't fun. I don't know exactly what you did that provoked someone to neg rep you, but I gave you +10 to help you out of it. Be cool on HF and you should get positive rep!

The Pact - October 4, 2024, 3:40 am

I'm very surprised by this thread and poster. lol