

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: YOU'VE BEEN SCAMMED! | JOIN THESE CLASS ACTION LAWSUITS!

LMPara - September 22, 2024, 8:34 am

Quote:If you're one of millions of people who use a smartphone you might be part of this class action. A nearly $5 Billion class action lawsuit that affects over 250 Million Americans has been filed against Qualcomm, an American processor chip manufacturer, which owns patents critical widely used smartphone technology, such as 5G. It is unclear at this time whether the smartphone class action also includes smartwatches...

Quote:A record-breaking $5.54 Billion Class Action Settlement has been agreed upon with Visa and Mastercard over allegations that they violated antitrust laws by imposing anti-competitive price fixing rules and fees on businesses.

Quote:The New York Attorney General has announced a settlement with Uber and Lyft in response to allegations of unfair treatment towards their drivers. Following a multi-year investigation, it was found that Uber's policies led to withheld earnings and denied benefits to drivers, contravening New York labor laws. The settlement entails the compensation of $290 million in back pay to drivers and the implementation of measures such as a minimum earning floor, provision of paid sick leave, adherence to proper hiring and earnings notices, and other enhancements to improve working conditions for drivers.

FOLKS! Many class action lawsuits have been opened recently against many companies that we all use on the daily. Some of these include Facebook, Snapchat, CashApp, JIF Peanut Butter, Samsung, Apple, and many MORE! If you believe you're eligible for compensation from the companies that may have wronged you, join the lawsuits! I myself have been affected by a few of them in the past, more notably the Facebook and Snapchat lawsuit. I HAVE been paid out by these companies, albeit small ($15-$40). However, a company that you put your trust in has deceived you for money, so absolutely go get the money you're owed back!

Check out the website below and see if you're eligible!

<https://openclassactions.com/>

Syndicate - September 22, 2024, 10:01 am

Brother, this straight up sounds like a scam in itself ?

LMPara - September 22, 2024, 10:14 am

(Sep 22, 2024 10:01 AM)Syndicate Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Brother, this straight up sounds like a scam in itself ?

Brother, court records are public with just a simple google search.

Epic - September 22, 2024, 10:42 am

(Sep 22, 2024 10:14 AM)LMPara Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Brother, court records are public with just a simple google search.

True. I got $12 from a class action one time... maybe I can try for another $12 lmao.

LMPara - September 22, 2024, 10:47 am

(Sep 22, 2024 10:42 AM)Epic Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) True. I got $12 from a class action one time... maybe I can try for another $12 lmao.

Go for it!!!! Check this one out. I know this one affects a LOT of users here. Maybe even you Syndicate ?

Quote:A $115 million class action settlement has been reached with Oracle over allegations that Oracle America, Inc., a huge and influential technology company, unlawfully tracked individuals' personal information without their consent.

Oracle is a large and influential tech company known for its Oracle Database, a leading relational database management system used by enterprises worldwide. It is also recognized for its Oracle Cloud, its popular Enterprise Resource Planning (ERP) software, as well as Java, a widely-used programming language and platform essential for web, mobile, and enterprise applications, and SQL, a popular database querying language.

<https://www.cand.uscourts.gov/notices/oracle-class-action-settlement/> Heres the actual court record

<https://openclassactions.com/settlements/oracle-individual-privacy-rights-class-action-settlement.php>
Heres the settlement claim

goldenbanana - September 22, 2024, 2:26 pm

I've done this before. I received free redbull pack.Thank you OP

Mooooookie - September 23, 2024, 12:06 am

(Sep 22, 2024 10:01 AM)Syndicate Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Brother, this straight up sounds like a scam in itself ?

Surprisingly enough, these class actions lawsuits are real. I was paid out from one years ago, I wasn't even aware that I was eligible to get paid until one of my friends told me about it. But to be fair, they typically don't pay more then $15-20 as the funds have to be split amongst the million of people applying for their piece of the pie.

I can't vouch for the website he's promoting, but I have seen these type of sites before.. they mainly just eat off the AD revenue, while providing you with direct links to each particular class lawsuit that you can sign up for.

LMPara - September 23, 2024, 7:46 am

(Sep 23, 2024 12:06 AM)Mooooookie Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Surprisingly enough, these class actions lawsuits are real. I was paid out from one years ago, I wasn't even aware that I was eligible to get paid until one of my friends told me about it. But to be fair, they typically don't pay more then $15-20 as the funds have to be split amongst the million of people applying for their piece of the pie.

I can't vouch for the website he's promoting, but I have seen these type of sites before.. they mainly just eat off the AD revenue, while providing you with direct links to each particular class lawsuit that you can sign up for.

Bingo, thats why i even said in my initial post Quote:albeit small ($15-$40)

The website I've linked is just an aggregator that lists new class action lawsuits and provides the necessary information to file a claim. Many like it, I just like OCA as they're easy to find, easy to read, and easy to make a simple claim if eligible. I'm sure there are hundreds of sites just like it, but my experience with OpenClassActions has been positive and thought I'd list it as its the one thats worked for me and helped get me legitimately paid out.

Omniscient - September 23, 2024, 9:52 am

Class Actions suck. You spend time filling out a form, then another one, and another, eventually you get a check in the mail that hopefully you don't throw away as junk-mail. The check is for $1.17.

Honestly, it's a massive problem in the America legal system. Lawyers prey on companies and corporations. The lawyers get very rich from this. The companies have to take the loss (hurts their stock price), meanwhile the plaintiff's get very little overall.

Mr_Kh4os - September 23, 2024, 10:01 am

(Sep 22, 2024 02:26 PM)goldenbanana Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I've done this before. I received free redbull pack. Thank you OP

I do vaguely remember doing this years ago, by chance was this when there was the lawsuit over people really thinking they could have "wings" lol..?

LMPara - September 23, 2024, 11:02 am

(Sep 23, 2024 09:52 AM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Class Actions suck. You spend time filling out a form, then another one, and another, eventually you get a check in the mail that hopefully you don't throw away as junk-mail. The check is for $1.17.

Honestly, it's a massive problem in the America legal system. Lawyers prey on companies and corporations. The lawyers get very rich from this. The companies have to take the loss (hurts their stock price), meanwhile the plaintiff's get very little overall.

I disagree. If a company that you as a consumer put your money and your trust into cuts corners for profit and it affects you negatively as the consumer, then you should be absolutely entitled to compensation from that company. YOU are the one keeping that company alive. Is it not a slap in the face when a company you put your trust into now sells your facial recognition data to some chinese 3rd parties because they want money? Never in a million years would you ever put your trust or money in a company that publicly discloses that they're selling all of your information to folks who really shouldn't have it. Whether you get $1 or $150 from the payout, you are still being compensated for the wrongdoing that company has done against you. That's what these class actions are for. Now I will agree that lawyers are one of the biggest obstacles in the way for the legal system to flourish. Greed trumps morality unfortunately, and when you have lawyers who are only in it for the money making $10 million a case, its quite difficult to fix the same issue that puts that much money in those people's pockets. They sure as hell don't want to.

goldenbanana - September 23, 2024, 12:03 pm

(Sep 23, 2024 10:01 AM)Mr_Kh4os Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I do vaguely remember doing this years ago, by chance was this when there was the lawsuit over people really thinking they could have "wings" lol..?

Yes that's the lawsuit that gave us free redbull lol

(Sep 23, 2024 09:56 AM)Sox Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I did this one a while back, as well.

I filled one out for the Mrs too, and they sent two 4 pack of Redbulls.

That's hilarious, nothing's better than getting it for free lol

RangoWorld - September 23, 2024, 1:47 pm

(Sep 23, 2024 09:52 AM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Class Actions suck. You spend time filling out a form, then another one, and another, eventually you get a check in the mail that hopefully you don't throw away as junk-mail. The check is for $1.17.

Honestly, it's a massive problem in the America legal system. Lawyers prey on companies and corporations. The lawyers get very rich from this. The companies have to take the loss (hurts their stock price), meanwhile the plaintiff's get very little overall.

While it is not ideal. You have to take into account the effort lawyers put through to fight these cases with complainers getting the cheque (albeit small) delivered to their homes. All for filling form/s.

There should always be some regulation and companies can't keep getting away with deceiving people. Without this system of class action lawsuits. There is nothing else.

Omniscient - September 23, 2024, 2:16 pm

(Sep 23, 2024 01:47 PM)RangoWorld Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) While it is not ideal. You have to take into account the effort lawyers put through to fight these cases with complainers getting the cheque (albeit small) delivered to their homes. All for filling form/s.

There should always be some regulation and companies can't keep getting away with deceiving people. Without this system of class action lawsuits. There is nothing else.

Oh please. These lawyers look for anything to sue especially against corporations that are traded on the exchanges. It's a game to them and it costs the economy a lot of money. It's $2-$10 billion that's awarded annually to Class Actions. The only people getting rich from these, is lawyers.

Mr. Corleone - September 23, 2024, 2:46 pm

(Sep 23, 2024 02:16 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Oh please. These lawyers look for anything to sue especially against corporations that are traded on the exchanges. It's a game to them and it costs the economy a lot of money. It's $2-$10 billion that's awarded annually to Class Actions. The only people getting rich from these, is lawyers.

Facts. Unless the number of people to be paid is insanely small.

If you think you'll be alive 20 years from now, I highly recommend everyone to stop using every one of the services mentioned in OP and delete your data with them (Your data will still exist in some form but eh.) Your data will be used in ways you can't begin to imagine. So even if you're one of those 'I am nobody important so idc if they collect useless data', trust me when I say you'll regret it.

The reason I mention it in this thread in particular is because these companies collect data like no other and have access to a large portion of the population.

The class action suits mentioned here aren't pertaining private data necessarily, but it pins the underlying motive of these organisations which is to generate profit.

DemonAsylum - October 1, 2024, 3:25 pm

I've been finally watching Breaking Bad for the first time (past season 1 and while actually paying full attention) and this just made me think of better call Saul lol. Just got into the episodes involving him.