

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Looking to develop Key logger for W11

theunknown - September 25, 2024, 6:44 pm

Want some basic help on creating a key logger for w11,

Is the file structure the same as w10 etc?
Anyone any experience with W11?

Vusixcf - November 21, 2024, 12:15 am

[deleted] Would be helpful

James Clown - November 23, 2024, 10:57 pm

(Sep 25, 2024 06:44 PM)theunknown Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Want some basic help on creating a key logger for w11,

Is the file structure the same as w10 etc?
Anyone any experience with W11?
File structure has nothing to do with keylogging.

Keystrokes can be recorded through a lot of different methods. One common method is to install a message-hook that intercepts WM_CHAR messages. Check out the API "SetWindowsHookExW" for that approach.

It is compatible with both Win 10/11.

Pigley - November 26, 2024, 9:27 pm

(Nov 23, 2024 11:57 PM)James Clown Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) File structure has nothing to do with keylogging.

Keystrokes can be recorded through a lot of different methods. One common method is to install a message-hook that intercepts WM_CHAR messages. Check out the API "SetWindowsHookExW" for that approach.

It is compatible with both Win 10/11.

Good answer. Let me also add that the WM_CHAR hook is pretty much the only reliable way to capture composite characters.

ZinyNet - January 26, 2025, 11:57 pm

(Nov 23, 2024 11:57 PM)James Clown Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) File structure has nothing to do with keylogging.

Keystrokes can be recorded through a lot of different methods. One common method is to install a message-hook that intercepts WM_CHAR messages. Check out the API "SetWindowsHookExW" for that approach.

It is compatible with both Win 10/11.

Looked at this and had a question... Are you a developer ? Looking for developer groups to join in on their convos... could be here or telegram or another platform doesnt really matter... Do you know any highly active groups ?

What are some of the main proxy providers that developers you know mainly use ?

Ulyanovsk - March 4, 2025, 5:56 am

(Sep 25, 2024 06:44 PM)theunknown Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Want some basic help on creating a key logger for w11,

Is the file structure the same as w10 etc?

Anyone any experience with W11?

i got that for u just dm, auto screenshot and autoemail

pyroe - March 4, 2025, 9:37 am

[deleted]cvvvvvvvvvvvvvvvvvvvvvvv