The rest of the internet uses it. Why don't we?

I think omni have many things to add to convo, but may delay it till upgrade is made first, then will improve it sounds like a majority of these upgrades need to be postponed until backend upgraded from what ive heard.

You can send any file type image to Convo.

For now until .webp is supported, just right-click the image, click "Copy image" instead of "Copy image address". Then just simply CTRL + V the image into the text box.

Pretty sure convo requires a lot of overhauling and not quite sure it's at the top of Omni's list right now.

Nachfolger is our only hope to make convo great again.
