Thread: If You Could Only Play 1 Game For The Rest Of Your Life.. Which Are You Picking?

DemonAsylum - October 1, 2024, 3:46 pm

So if you had to pick 1 game and that is all you can play for the rest of your life, what game are you picking? For me, I'm probably picking Old School RuneScape given if it's kept me around playing it this long, it can surely continue to do for the rest of my life ?

SuseGD - October 1, 2024, 3:53 pm

Mine would be either Minecraft or Destiny 2. The open-world sandbox concept of Minecraft gives you so many possibilities, but I enjoy FPS games as well. Destiny 2, with it's heavy backstory and setting, just appeals to me very well.

Charlie Sheen - October 1, 2024, 4:32 pm

Mine will be RuneScape as well. Interested in these new private servers they are rolling out.

As am I. When are they supposed to be coming out again? Is that the feature that's like way down the line still?

They say next year but I think we are going to have to pay to rent a server from them. I was just reading on their site.

oRequiem - October 1, 2024, 4:40 pm

I probably would have to go with Dead by Daylight as long as the game is getting updates.

Yeah I fully expect we'll have to pay for it to some degree.

Yes, a lot actually.

New Killers/Survivors/Maps, etc. Stranger Things did end up coming back as well.

Love to see that. I imagine that game will be getting supported for quite some time or unless they make a new one I guess.

I doubt they'll make a new one. The game is very alive and has been going strong for 8 years now.

Yeah it's always struck me as a game that will simply stay as the main game and continue to be supported is all.

Which is a good thing to be fair.

Seems to be having a good balance as well besides a few killers that they just refuse to change like Nurse.

Yeah We've seen multiple games take that route and have it work out quite well for them. A new game is definitely not always the best way to go.

Sadly. Bodycam was one of them. I really wanted it to do better, but it ended up dying quite a bit since there's no real replayability and no real progression besides holding leaderboard rankings.

From the start I had sort of a bad feeling about that game. I thought the concept for it was really cool and that there was def some potential. I just didn't see it getting handled too well and or appealing to wide enough of an audience.

DashPHP - October 1, 2024, 6:38 pm

I'd pick csgo because it's a fantastic game and it's really the only few games I've played.

Good choice! my choice would probably be minecraft as thats really the last game I played. Also so many different games within the game so theres lots of variety

Too much variety.

Never liked Minecraft. Though I only played the basic version over 12 years ago now

I use to play it maybe 7ish years ago? Before that it was call of duty for the most part.

I tried fortnite and cs:go but never got addicted

Nope I don't play any games at all.

I'm pretty active within the rbx community, so I'd play the games we have on site, including poker with our members.

But as for console/pc gaming. Nah not atm!

Makes sense, makes sense. Were you ever big on gaming though or like not really? Man I can't imagine not gaming at all haha. It's been a huge part of my life for basically ever though.

When I was younger, like 12+ I was hooked on runescape and halo.

But as I got older I found joy in programming, and that to me is gaming man. I love the challenge programming brings.

I can't even sit long playing with a controller I get bored so fast.

I was at a friends house playing on his ps5... man I was bored lol

Very true. Definitely plenty of cases where I'm sure people would love to be able to game or for a longer amount of time and just can't because of what all they have going IRL. Totally understandable.

Yup! i'd say that's why I stopped gaming as much as I use to. life caught up with me and I just don't have time for it anymore. Yet I have time to farm for a pumpkin... hmmm

That's fair and listen this pumpkin is prime time real estate! Gotta get it while you can. It's like a seasonal event happening in a game and that you gotta get the rewards from while they're offered.

Hahahah I've been playing it slowly but surely... I've made some progress but Im not nearly there yet. That game is slow AF. You just click that one mission, right? The one at the bottom/the hardest one, then wait for it to reset, then do it again?

The NASA small hack job? Yeah just slam that every 5 minutes. Pretty mind numbing and monotonous ?

I would choose Warframe because there is so much to do and customizes

Purgatory - October 2, 2024, 12:56 am

Skate 3. Well, only if I was able to play with other people lol. Maybe I would become the fastest 3 tricker again
