Thread: OctoberFest 2024: How do you plan on getting the pumpkin award this year?

Purgatory - October 1, 2024, 8:18 pm

Some people will choose to stay up all night and get it as quickly as possible. (Like myself) Some may choose to take day by day and get it at the end of the month. What are you opting to do?

DemonAsylum - October 1, 2024, 8:19 pm

Going at it hard, going at it fast! Gotta knock this bitch out ASAP!

You're staying up all night to get it eh? The award isn't even released yet!

Im opting to go to sleep soon and try again in the morning

V?rt - October 1, 2024, 8:20 pm

I'm still debating if I want to stay up tonight or not, but not for getting the award. I'll try and make a good bit of posts for the night though.

Fair enough debate. I feel like lots of people have that exact same thought lol

I'm guessing since it looks like Omni is gone for the night, it will be at least 12-14 hours until he's on again for more than a min or two and then actually starts doing some stuff such as enabling the award.

That is what I am saying!! Grinding for this shit, turning me into a goddamn feind for the award hahahaha

Confound - October 1, 2024, 8:23 pm

I'll do it over the course of the month. i feel like rushing lowers post quality.

Are posts still being counted towards the award? Like, for example; just hypothetically speaking, what if I made 700 posts tonight. Of course, the award isn't released/enabled so I wouldn't receive it. However, once the award is enabled would I receive it?

Omni said the posts are still counting right now, yes.

Yup, he's gone. I agree with you on that. 12-14 hours minimum before the award gets activated.

Slow and steady wins the race. You seem like you'd be a good Mentor! Best of luck.

LOL pumpkin heads is accurate because of the award - or else I would say air heads might be a better term?

I can understand that; and that can be true. I suppose it depends on the individual.

oRequiem - October 1, 2024, 8:31 pm

I'm going all in every minute of the day until I get it really besides sleep if I don't get it by tonight. Hard to know since the award goal isn't listed yet until hopefully tomorrow.
But I'm almost done. Trying to keep count.

That is fair; I don't believe I am going to make 700 posts tonight but am for sure going to chip at it lol.

Just getting over that hump and then a little extra so I'm certain I'm all good and then that's it for me

Yeah I was holding off on posting a lot or really at all until Omni essentially gave the green light in convo. Wasn't gonna risk having a ton of effort from posting go to waste otherwise.

I wanted to go hard for it asap and knock it out, but yeah I wasn't gonna risk anything haha. So I just waited until he was around for a while and then he replied to someone about it in convo thankfully.

Yeah I know there were already some people going for it and that probably felt the same after finding out he said that. Prior they were just assuming it would be retroactive. I personally didn't think it would, but of course am glad it is since it knocked out some more posts for me as well.

I would say it started counting when the daily check in thread got posted for today. Seems like a logical start time if you ask me.

I have a question, how do you join Fallen? Is there some sort of recruitment for it? It says I am blacklisted but I don't recall doing anything specific to get blacklisted Imfao

Probably through the group applications right?

Deany - October 1, 2024, 10:08 pm

As for me , I will prob take it slow . So tired ...

Bastille - October 2, 2024, 12:34 am

Planing to get it during the month, considering that I'm not working compared to the previous years I could get it quite fastly but don't want to rush it, I also have lot of things to do IRL

Did you get the requirments or not yet ? Hope that the progress bar will be available soon

Purgatory - October 2, 2024, 12:36 am

I have not reached the requirements yet, I could if I wanted to. However, I really want the loungehead award and am 56% of the way there. I figured hopefully in the morning more threads will be made and I could get them both. I will get the loungehead quicker than the pumpkin though.

SuseGD - October 2, 2024, 4:31 am

There's no way I'm staying up through the night to get the award, my body just will not function properly. I'm probably going to take it day by day, being a little active over the course of the month to get the award, and not speed through it.

Yeah, I'm going to do the same thing. Pulling an all-nighter for the award doesn't feel like a good idea, especially for me, as I need to wake up pretty early the next day.

I'm not sure what the goal for the award is but, I've seen 600 posts. That would equate out to around just under 30 posts per day. Does not seem like an easy feat but, I am going to try my best to get it.

Charlie Sheen - October 2, 2024, 6:47 am

Assuming the award is uploaded today, I'll have mine tonight or tomorrow. I made a list of ideas for threads, and have been slowly making them. Last year this was a great chance to talk with new people and get to know them. I love OctoberFest.

Michael - October 2, 2024, 6:55 am

Planning at least 25 posts per day.
Unsure about the threads though.
