If so, do you have a specific brand? How do you eat it?

I only eat migoerang and i drain all the water before seasoning. It comes with 5 differemt oils and seasonings.

I top it with kimchi, soft boiled egg and spam

Yep, I love ramen. Even if it's hella bad for you still eat it anytime.

I eat ramen as well from time to time, usually if I have no other option for what to eat. It's not that I don't like the taste, it's good, but it's definitely not my first choice.

I do, but I eat the ones that are already in the cup with the vegetables. I don't buy the other ones, the ones in the square package. Would I eat it if I'm hungry? Damn right.

I eat noodles branded indomi, likes the meat flavour only, and not the spicy ones

Personally, not very often. I usually only eat it when I go on camping trips because it's easy to pack and cook, and you can do a lot of different recipes with it.

I love ramen noodles, especially the spicy kinds! They are very tasty.

I used to eat ramen noodles, but then I took into consideration the huge amount of sodium in the seasoning packets.. Not a healthy snack.
