Thread: Wearing glasses

Morphh - October 5, 2024, 8:46 am

I now have to wear glasses, and wow, does it make a huge difference. I knew my vision was bad, but I didn't think it was "needing glasses" bad. But I'm super happy I got them, and now I have to accept that it's a part of my look now lol. Anyone else wear glasses? If you do, what did it feel like when you first got them? Mine feels great, but it does feel like my surroundings are moving like the floor walls etc—kind of trippy.

You can always opted for laser surgery or whatever they call it. But I still don't trust that process though. Its been around for years already.

Yeah fuck that, Honestly I'm fine wearing them, makes me look more sophisticated lol.

how do you know if you have bad eyes

DashPHP - October 5, 2024, 8:49 am

I have been prescribed glasses but I rarely wear it. These days I have been wearing it more though, just at desk.

I am considering laser eye treatment in the near future.

Get an eye test, I guess. I knew because I couldn't focus my eyes on words that well, and long distance was hella blurry. When they tried me with glasses, it made a huge difference. Now, when I take them off, everything looks blurry-ish.

Why don't you wear them?

It hurts when you look at bright lights or just whenever? Maybe there is a trigger that causes them to hurt?

Your vision will get blurry. But you can go for a checkup , they will check ur nerves as well as your vision test and all.

If you want hardcore they will put some sort droplet on your eyes so that your eye cells expands and they see it under the microscope (maybe not the actual device name etc)

Fortunately no glasses for me, but yeah, glasses can be a cool addition to a look. Don't feel too bad

Well, I'm no expert, nor do I have much knowledge, but I'd say get checked just in case. They'll most likely say you need glasses, though it seems opticians usually will say you could benefit from glasses even if you don't need them. But get checked no harm in getting a check up. Do you get much sunlight? maybe that could be something to do with it.

Yeahhh I'll get used to them.

I just wear sunglasses when it's bright out!

I should probably get my eyes checked again but eh I can see for the most part lol

Glasses for me this weekend.I feel like contact lenses would be irritating.

I feel that, I'm not a big fan of the sun, especially when its glaring into my eyes lol.

When I first got my glasses, everything looked "trippy" too, but after a while, I got used to it and I didn't get that feeling anymore. My vision is so bad that without my glasses, I can barely distinguish shapes. Everything is just a blur of colors everywhere.

Damn seriously? Well luckily us humans invented glasses.

Yeah, definitely. I can't even imagine my life if glasses didn't exist; I wouldn't be able to do anything.

Do you have an eye condition you were diagnosed with? They told me that my eyes are shaped like rugby balls, so it takes longer to focus or something like that...

Yeah, I have a really severe case of astigmatism, which explains why I can barely see anything without lenses.

I went to the eye dr last year and he said my eyes were fine. I was able to read the letters. The last row was hard but I was able to do it. I find I squint sometimes when I watch tv. My partner has glasses and when I put them on I can 100% see better. But I feel like if I get prescription glasses, my eyes will be dependent on them and I'll never be able to see without them. If I'm ok with my vision now, why bother changing it.

Do you kinda see what I'm saying?

Oh I see I just looked that up, never heard of it before, did it cause you headaches?

Yeah I agree, why change something that doesn't really need to be fixed, but if it does help a lot, then maybe its worth it you know.

Now that I think about it, it might have. I sometimes get some pretty bad headaches every once in a while, and I've always thought it was completely unrelated with my vision problems. But maybe it's not.

Yeah maybe, it would make sense I guess.

I wear glasses since I'm kid, don't remember when I wore glasses for the first time tho and how it felt

I think I look better when I don't wear glasses, however I like to wear vintage look glasses, I like the 80s in general

Who doesn't love the 80s.

If you don't want to wear glasses, then do regular eye exercises every day. If you stay consistent and do them right, you can see noticeable results.

I had to get glasses about a year or two ago. It wasn't an urgent situation, but I knew my vision wasn't quite as good as I used to be. I pretty much only wear them when I driving though, it isn't much of an issue for other things, yet, lol.
