Thread: Who is here before COVID?

TheGoldenRelik - October 15, 2024, 3:12 pm

I mean this forum used to be more active on the coding sectors but now it seems dead. What happened?

Devs are like rockstars nowadays

LeetSpeed - October 15, 2024, 3:25 pm

I was on here a bit before covid.

TheGoldenRelik - October 15, 2024, 3:27 pm

What do you feel changed here?

There has been a lot of changes since I joined here years ago, most of the members I interacted with are no longer here. or don't come on as often.

Epic - October 15, 2024, 3:37 pm

I just recently came back on the site after having been away since like 2010, lmao. I don't remember too much from way back then, but it was definitely pretty crazy here.

There was a re-launch with new stuff, like contracts etc.

Yes I see people changed a lot too. but the info still exists if you search it

There's been way too many changes that have happened since 2012 but those were the golden years to be here ?

Jinu - October 16, 2024, 1:07 am

It feels like the coding scene has shifted a lot. With developers in such high demand and platforms like GitHub, Stack Overflow, and Discord communities growing, a lot of devs probably focus their efforts there now. Plus, coding has become such a mainstream skill that devs are kind of like rockstars, working on projects and startups or freelancing, which might explain the quieter forums.

I barely touched my computer before covid, unlike now, it was a good way to get me into internet stuffs.

Chrome - October 20, 2024, 10:38 am

I was on here well before covid, back in 2015-2018. I came back because I was curious to what's changed. Now I am hooked again.
