Thread: Share your tattoos

Miracula - October 19, 2024, 1:21 am

I really want to get my first tattoo, I just don't have any idea about what I should get done. Please share if you have any, if you think it's a bad idea, or what you want to get tattooed in the future.

I have tribal-like tattoos on my hand with personal occult knowledge.

I keep adding them every time I discover something about my self and life as a whole. :)

This is my opinion

It's going to be a bad idea because you don't even know what you want.

Many of my friends have tattoos that they got just because they wanted tattoos. In my opinion, they look like shit, have no meaning to them, and were just something they impulsively got without any thought behind it. For example, a name in Chinese. You probably personally know many people who do this lol. I always say, don't get a fucking tattoo until you're really certain you have one that you genuinely like and have thought of yourself (a unique tattoo), not just something that looks "cool."

I've thought about getting tattoos for so many years, but never did do it. I prob will do it within the next 2 years.

Looking to get a sleeve and both back of hands done.

I have a 127.0.0.1 on the neck

Access on left wrist

Root on right wrist

I have one of a white rabbit saying "Follow the white rabbit", ref to matrix

I have Bill Cipher (a character from a cartoon named Gravity Falls), I liked the character besides it's cipher like encryption and stuff, I plan to tattoo some encryption algorithm around him

I have a minimalist design of my passed away dog

And few other little, I plan to do many more especially about hacking and IT

A tattoo representing something meaningful in your life, like a hobby, a favorite quote or a special place, could be a great choice.

I think it's important to choose something that has personal meaning to you. Do you have any interests or passions that could inspire a design?

I dont have a single tatoo on my body.

Prawnster - October 20, 2024, 8:48 am

I've got about 15 or so tattoos, you can just find some stuff you like or go to an artist, tell them a theme and get them to design you a personal one ezpz.
