Thread: Method To Get Discounted UberEats \(100% Legit & Whitehat\)

Nit0 - October 19, 2024, 2:11 pm

You may be a UberEats user and you might be wondering if there's a way to continue to use UberEats while saving money and the answer is yes!

In fact, there's a method that I've been doing to accumulate over 100+ UberEats codes that gets me $15 off each order.

Yes over 100+ discounted orders!

I haven't paid full price for a UberEats order in months due to this method.

The method is 100% whitehat nothing illegal about it & depending on which path you take might take a small investment of like $5-$12 after purchase is required to speed things up. Alternatively the method could also be done free as well but the investment route would increase your ability to get the code's quicker.

This method is something I came up with myself after the price of groceries & everything else kept going up, I found a way to get orders for cheap without doing anything blackhat at all.

Once you use the method you will notice you will constantly get those $15 off coupon codes in the app:

The price I am charging for the method is going to be $450 which is a fraction of the amount of the money that you'll be able to save if your a regular UberEats user. If you think $450 is a lot then this isn't for you. The average person spends $5k+ a year on food & other things, this can save you many thousands over the course of your life.

No vouch copies will be given at this moment to prevent leakage & only 5 copies will be sold. You can really use this method to save thousands and also start a B4U as well.

For the promotions you're obtaining you have to spend $25.00 to get $15.00 off?

Can you stack the promotions together on one order?

Yes to get $15.00 off, the subtotal has to be at least $25.00.

When you get a lot of $15 off coupons you want to just place a lot of orders in that $25 - $30 range for the maximum savings.

Of course, the $15 off also works on larger orders like $150 or $1500 but if you take $15 off a $30 purchase it's like 50% off for you so more bang for your buck to do a lot of tiny orders.

In regards to stacking promotions, it's usually limited to 1 promotion per order.

Unless the retailer/restaurant establishment has their own promotion like buy 1 get 1 free then yes those 2 can stack, here's an example from a recent fast food order where the $15 off stacked with their own BOGO which made the savings quite nice over $29+

This method would also work in Canada too. Let me know if you have any other questions.
