Thread: US Leaked documents show Israels plans to attack Iran

Ivanka Trump - October 20, 2024, 2:09 am

Within the latest 24h there has apparently been a leak of US & Israeli document circling around Telegram, where Israel is planning on attacking Iran once again. And that for the first time without confirmation we get to see leaks on information about Israel having nuclear weapons.

What are your thoughts about this and how this could affect the ongoing proxy wars and topics such as maybe Telegram getting even more restricted?

Israel having nukes is not surprising, didn't they extract tons of enriched uranium from USA back in the 60s or something? As for the attack it's more likely they're planning to expand eastwards with Iran being an excuse now that they're finishing things up in Palestine, apparently bombardment has been intensified now.

Honestly not surprised at all, Israel believes Syria, Iraq, and Lebanon are rightfully theirs somehow.

What brainwashing?

They did steal enriched uranium from USA.

Right after Hamas leader was killed multiple news outlets reported on increase in the intensity of bombardment.

They themselves say parts of the middle east belongs to them.

Did you see me say anything negative about Israel in my post?

And good point, countries need resources and land. Russia is not in the wrong for anything they do in Ukraine since they just want land, ISIS was not in the wrong since they just wanted land, China is not in the wrong since they just want Hong Kong and Taiwan. Evil is subjective, even ISIS believed they were in the right.

? I didn't imply that it was OK to fight over land. I just said Israel and Palestine have been fighting over the land since the 1940s, but authorities in Palestine have paid for a massive online propaganda push for every sheep in the first world to hate on Israel right now.

Can't believe you called me brainwashed a while ago. Every major news channel aside from TRT and AlJazeera AFAIK are supporting Israel. Most of the "social media journalists" that are speaking against Israel have been demonetized or outright banned. Try it yourself, create two accounts on any social media platform and post negative comments/videos about Israel in one and about Palestine in the other and see which account gets banned/demonetized.

My point is, if you think Palestine has paid for a "massive online propaganda" then no offense, but you're the one brainwashed..

You shouldn't bother trying to reason with delusional people.
