I found a perfectly shaped rock with strange carvings on it during a hike.
I still have no idea what it means.

What is an unusual object you have ever found?

The strangest object I ever came across was an old, rusted key while I was on a trip to a remote village. There was no visible lock nearby that it could fit, which made me wonder what kind of door or treasure it might have once opened. The mystery behind it gave me a bit of an adventure vibe, and it still sits on my shelf as a reminder of that trip.

Unfortunately, there was no cave last time.
Perhaps I just have not discovered the entrance.
