Thread: How to hack Blogspot and WordPress blogs with post by email activate lightduty - October 22, 2024, 2:54 am

For this hack to work a user just needs to search for @blogger.com and @post.wordpress.com on underground search engines. For this hack I used the now defunct <https://search.0t.rocks/> but should work with any other search engine.

First find this type of email, then send a specially crafted email to it. Wait one or two days and search on google using the title that you send on your email. If you find results with your title, then it's working and just need to try to correlate the list of emails with the blogs you found. When I used this hack, I used the title "Hacked by Hacxx" with an image for easy spotting...

Now that you have a list of emails, simply email them and get your stuff posted on the front page of that blog.

Search 0t rocks is down right? Site is no longer available. It was full of useful information honestly.

They needed to close for some reason related to feds etc? No?

Yes, i was able to get all type of information related to me in that search engine, home phone number used in 2003, date of birth, passwords, emails, etc. The search engine indexed the most popular database breaches.

Nah nah I mean that site you posted is no longer working. It used to work but it was taken down. The owner was forced to take down and they upload the project on github etc..
