

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: What was the moment you realized your doggo is getting old?

Eran - October 24, 2024, 11:40 am

Thankfully my 7 year old mixed breed is still playful and has tons of energy. Sure he has changed and looks different than 4 years ago but still a healthy pup. I dread of the days where I see him actively age ???

If you have any moments, please share.

DashPHP - October 24, 2024, 11:42 am

7 years is the halfway point i believe. Can't wait to get dogs of my own. Mans best friend.

Eran - October 24, 2024, 11:46 am

(Oct 24, 2024 11:42 AM)DashPHP Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 7 years is the halfway point i believe. Can't wait to get dogs of my own. Mans best friend.

Yes it is. Luckily for me smaller breeds and as well mixed breeds tend to live longer, and my dog was always healthy, except for the injury that happened when he got attacked.

Bastille - October 24, 2024, 11:47 am

Erf, enjoy the good moment with your buddy, take pics and videos, while he's still able to run and play with you, death happens so fast..

I remember that he was getting old when I was working a lot, and I didn't spend as much time as I should with him at this moment.

I lost my dog 5 years ago, got a tattoo of him, couldn't get another dog now, it would be too painful.

DashPHP - October 24, 2024, 11:47 am

(Oct 24, 2024 11:46 AM)Eran Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yes it is. Luckily for me smaller breeds and as well mixed breeds tend to live longer, and my dog was always healthy, except for the injury that happened when he got attacked.

Ah I remember the attack. Did you find the guy in the end?

Ravensshadow - November 12, 2024, 11:40 am

When he can't out right sprint when I challenge him to a run or that he has a hard time getting into the car. He's 10 so he an old doggo now