Thread: What is your preference: Cooking at home or going out to eat?

sharn - October 26, 2024, 2:01 am

Cooking at home is my choice because I can control the ingredients.
I also enjoy trying new recipes.

Do you find yourself cooking at home more often or is dining out your preference?

I'm with you. Cooking at home is great because of the control over ingredients and the chance to get creative. I do enjoy dining out every so often, especially to try new dishes and get some inspiration for home cooking. But overall, I find cooking at home to be more satisfying, and it's a nice way to unwind.

If I could go out to eat every day then I would. Simply just for ease.

I do enjoy a nice home cooked meal though.

Cooking at home. It lets me put ingredients I want into the meal.

I get it, ordering is convenient.

Is there a specific reason you prefer ordering instead?

I enjoy both. It depends what I feel like.

I enjoy cooking, I've purchased proper equipment and stuff to make it a much more enjoyable experience.

BUT someone who is a professional cooking you a good meal is a great time as well.
