Thread: Which is your favorite Isekai?

Syndicate - October 27, 2024, 12:09 am

I know there's a TON of them out there and I can guarantee that I've watched a good 100 of them. I love watching them and I know how silly they are. A pretty good one that's laid back that I've watched recently was Chillin' in Another World with Level 2 Super Cheat Powers.

What has been some of your favorites?

Isn't Isekai the same thing as a cross-universe character? Or do I have that wrong?

Yeah kind of actually.

Isekai (Japanese: ??? transl. 'different world', 'another world', or 'other world') is a sub-genre of fiction. It includes novels, light novels, films, manga, anime, and video games that revolve around a displaced person or people who are transported to and have to survive in another world such as a fantasy world, game world, or parallel universe with or without the possibility of returning to their original world.

I thought so, okay cool.

I don't ever watch anime so I know very little about it.

Only ones I ever found somewhat interesting was One Piece as a kid, and as an adult Chainsaw Man & Cowboy Bebop.

I couldn't really get into One Piece to be honest. Not really my type of Anime. Also too many episodes Imao. Chainsaw man was an amazing anime though. Great watch ?

One Piece does have sooo many episodes lol, it's insane how many arcs they have. I mainly watched it when I was a little kid when it first came out in the US, just thought it was entertaining at the time.

Yeah man, CSM just has amazing cinematography. Almost feels like you're watching a real life show during some scenes.
