

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Any prog and/or metal fans \(from Tool to Lorna Shore\) to nerd out with?

bensonc83 - October 27, 2024, 2:02 pm

If you know, you know. That itch. I got it and I wanna talk about time signatures and screams and polyrhythms.

StinkButt420 - October 27, 2024, 8:09 pm

Not a Lorna Shore fan, but one of my guitar students has a story I think is pretty funny.

Back a few years ago, Lorna Shore was playing in my boy's hometown, he knew 'em pretty well, so he bought two tickets. One for his dad, one for him. Standard stuff. BUT, this particular show, he saw that you could get a VIP package and MEET Will Ramos.

This guy is an aspiring vocalist on top of it, and it could easily be assumed WR is his current inspiration.

So he buys the ticket.

The show is on a school night, poor bastard is ~15 or so at the time, and he goes to the show and has a good time. SO, now it's on to the meet and greet! Except... well, now it's 2 AM on a school night, and Will Ramos blew everyone in the line off. No one in the band came back to see 'em.

My boy was LIVID, he actually posted on his Instagram story, tagging not only the LS Instagram, but Will Ramos' personal instagram. Both the band's account, AND Will's account saw it. And do you wanna guess what he did? Nothing. Just ignored it.

So that's why my boy don't like LS anymore.

Hope this made you laugh.

bensonc83 - October 27, 2024, 10:51 pm

Bro that is so fucking funny, I think we've all had moments like that. They're heartbreaking, but 10 years later fucking hilarious. Ramos is an utter beast with those pipes... he makes the band actually enjoyable lol.

Thanks for the story my man