

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Whats your Favorite Childhood Memory?

Jinu - October 29, 2024, 5:20 am

What's your Favorite Childhood Memory?

We all have those special moments from our childhood that stick with us. Whether it's a family trip, a fun day with friends, or something that made you laugh, I'd love to hear about your favorite childhood memory! What made it so special for you?

SuseGD - October 29, 2024, 5:30 am

I remember when I was really young that my family and I went to Disney World. This was really long ago, before all the major developments starting happening there. Anyway, I remember it was such a unique and surreal experience for me, because I was able to meet so many of my favorite characters in real-life, and as a kind, it felt truly special.

Deany - October 29, 2024, 5:32 am

Eh I don't have any. It all sucked!

Mr_Kh4os - October 29, 2024, 6:05 am

Definitely going to Disney when I was young with my aunt and uncle, my family was super poor but they were well off and absolutely loved us like their own and my uncle also taught me how to hunt etc.

Apree Team - October 29, 2024, 6:21 am

My first birthday party at McDonald's ...

Jinu - October 29, 2024, 9:45 am

(Oct 29, 2024 05:30 AM)SuseGD Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I remember when I was really young that my family and I went to Disney World. This was really long ago, before all the major developments starting happening there. Anyway, I remember it was such a unique and surreal experience for me, because I was able to meet so many of my favorite characters in real-life, and as a kind, it felt truly special. That's such a heartwarming memory! There's something magical about those early trips to places like Disney World, especially when everything feels so larger-than-life. Meeting favorite characters in person must have made it feel like stepping into a storybook. Do you still have any souvenirs or photos from that trip?

Prawnster - October 29, 2024, 12:09 pm

My childhood was always awful haha.

SuseGD - October 29, 2024, 2:07 pm

(Oct 29, 2024 09:45 AM)Jinu Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That's such a heartwarming memory! There's something magical about those early trips to places like Disney World, especially when everything feels so larger-than-life. Meeting favorite characters in person must have made it feel like stepping into a storybook. Do you still have any souvenirs or photos from that trip?

Yeah, I do actually still have some old family photos from our trip. I have them all saved in an album filled with photos, and I always check it once in a while just to relive some of those memories.

Game - October 29, 2024, 3:13 pm

It was my first family holiday. We rented a home near the seaside, with a big garden with play apparatus and I brought my Xbox and bought the latest Dragon Ball Z game at the time and spent the evenings indoors completing the game after a nice day out doing activities.