

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Do you prefer spontaneous or planned travel?

sharn - October 29, 2024, 10:30 am

Traveling looks different for everyone.

I like a balance. I usually plan the main points, but I leave room for spontaneous activities or stops.

Do you like to plan every detail or do you prefer to go with the flow when traveling?

Jinu - October 29, 2024, 11:51 am

(Oct 29, 2024 10:30 AM)sharn Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Traveling looks different for everyone.

I like a balance. I usually plan the main points, but I leave room for spontaneous activities or stops.

Do you like to plan every detail or do you prefer to go with the flow when traveling?

I'm with you on that balance! Having a plan helps ensure I don't miss out on key attractions, but leaving some time for spontaneity often leads to the best experiences. Those unexpected moments can become the highlights of the trip. Do you have a memorable spontaneous adventure from your travels?

Prawnster - October 29, 2024, 11:52 am

I'd plan the main things and then the rest is just spontaneous tbh.

SuseGD - October 29, 2024, 2:31 pm

I like to have some general guidelines of what I want to do and where I want to go when I travel, but I'm also open to just exploring wherever life takes me.

Fish - October 29, 2024, 2:40 pm

(Oct 29, 2024 10:30 AM)sharn Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Traveling looks different for everyone.

I like a balance. I usually plan the main points, but I leave room for spontaneous activities or stops.

Do you like to plan every detail or do you prefer to go with the flow when traveling?

Honestly I'd say a bit of both. I've planned trips a year in advance and I've planned others a week in advance.

It depends on the trip. If it's just me and a friend it could be last minute, if it's with family it will probably be planned farther in advance

SuseGD - October 29, 2024, 2:45 pm

(Oct 29, 2024 02:40 PM)Fish Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Honestly I'd say a bit of both. I've planned trips a year in advance and I've planned others a week in advance.

It depends on the trip. If it's just me and a friend it could be last minute, if it's with family it will probably be planned farther in advance

I totally agree with that. Depending on who I'm going with, and how long I'm going for, the time spent planning my trip is going to vary considerably.

Game - October 29, 2024, 2:58 pm

A mix of both is nice. I like to have a plan, but do enjoy winging it a little too.

LeetSpeed - October 29, 2024, 3:09 pm

I plan my travels out. When I get there I do spontaneous things.

Snowwy - October 31, 2024, 8:50 am

Planned definitely. I wouldn't enjoy it otherwise.