Thread: What is your choice of superpower?

Game - October 30, 2024, 9:36 am

If you could have any superpower, what would it be and why?

I choose Flight.

I feel like being able to fly at will is pure freedom.

What do you choose?

Jamika - October 30, 2024, 11:28 am

I may see that I will choose flying too, or or if possible I may choose to disappear because I think that both of them is so fantastic .

Badge - October 30, 2024, 11:32 am

I don't know if this is allowed but as I always say for this question, to control time. Be able to pause or rewind or fast forward, But if that's not allowed might have to be super strength would come in handy!

Prawnster - October 30, 2024, 1:05 pm

Being able to see into the future would be good, so I could accurately predict which products to pick n shit hahaha.

I'll allow it. It's a good power.

Your choice of flight seems good, but how fast? ;)

I would say, the same as a pigeon as a minimum speed.

I think being able to control the speed would be good as I would like to follow alongside a plane to freak a few people out who see me from the window lol.

Hahah bros out here boutta become superman ?

SuseGD - October 30, 2024, 6:31 pm

I would definitely choose the ability to control time. If you could speed up time, slow it down, go forwards and backwards in time, the possibilities are basically endless.

True, just hope you can pause it before you die so you can go back. Imagine you die in your sleep or something. RIP, lmao.

Yeah, that's true. After a while, you could literally just rewind your entire life and do something completely different that takes you on a completely new path. That would be pretty cool.

Yeah that would be cool. The question is... is your age 1:1 with time? So when you go back, you aging is reversed to your age at that time? Or can you choose....

Do you keep your knowledge?

Deany - October 30, 2024, 6:41 pm

I wish I could teleport tbh

I was thinking that when you go back in time, you would be able to choose what age you would end up as. Technically, if you had the ability to control time, you could speed up and slow down time without affecting yourself, so it should remain unchanged. As for knowledge, hopefully you get to keep it. But who really knows?

So many variables.

I'll stick to flying! Lmao.

True, there's a lot of variables and unknowns, but there's so much more you could do with it! The unknown can be part of the fun too!

It would be cool.

I don't imagine we would have collision rules in real life like we do in video games though, so you might just teleport halfway through something and split in half... risky, no?

Maybe part of the superpower is that he won't split in half hahahaa

What if, when you teleported, you could imagine a certain exact specific point that you wanted to teleport to, and so you would only teleport to that one position, and no where else. Wouldn't that remove the risk of teleported halfway through something?

I mean, what if you wanted to teleport to your home in bed, but your room was moved around while you were out and things are out of place. You can only see what you remember so there's still the risk of teleporting into an object. You would have to pick an open space to avoid it but there's always that risk still.

deadlogic - October 31, 2024, 8:09 am

I'd like to be able to time travel.

Oh yeah, that's a problem I never even actually considered. I'm not sure how that would work, actually.

Yup, that's the flawed logic of teleportation outside of a controlled environment. The particles reforming becomes a problem when you end up with a chair where your lower leg used to be aha.

Completely agree with that. If teleportation ever actually does get invented, (Although I doubt it does), that's going to be a major problem for us to contend with.

That's a good choice of power.

Would you want to go forward or back?

Yeah it would only likely be possible in a controlled environment. Kind of like the Star Trek "beam me up" lol.
