Thread: Removing prefix of left group

Jamika - October 31, 2024, 12:50 am

Hello everyone

Ok i have an suggestion which i know with 95% will not be applied

So when i leave a group and i had it as a prefix in threads , i suggest its automatically changed to null or (get removed)

And hope it could be changed at bulks , know its almost impossible but hopes if it will be done

If I remember correctly, this is something that was already brought up previously and that Omni may have mentioned a change coming for. Maybe I'm just recalling a casual convo about it wherever though, idk. Either way, it seems understandable that group owners and leaders may not want anyone no longer in their group still having their group prefix on threads. That's all the more so if the member was kicked for any sort of major and or malicious reason.

Regarding the second part of your suggestion, do you mean being able to change the prefix for any amount of your threads in one go?

Exactly for both , and my threads with a prefix will mean the group name appear more too , so it shouldnt show a group for both reasons when someone is out of it

Second is right too , so if i wanna some topics to be changed i can tick them in bulks instead of one by one

Or here's an idea, stop prefixing all of your stupid threads with your group? Such a retarded feature to begin with.

It was because of me hahah.

I was in gamblers, used the gamblers prefix, then got kicked from gamblers. No one told me to remove the prefix, but a suggestion to omni was made to add to group control panel to remove prefix of their members.

Me and Gamblers are all good now FYI

He implemented a function into the group owner control panel. You have to contact a leader of that group to remove the prefix.

Ok thanx , will see that , and hope its open from other side , to us to remove ours easily too

I'm not sure this feature was implemented and, if so, only the group owner can access it.

I apologize. Thank you for your previous thread contributions.

Good to hear that info though

And no need for apologize my friend , hope the best for benevolence and Olympians , glad u r looking for hq and representable members

Only group owners can do it. Which is how it will remain. If you can Full Edit your thread, you can likely update the prefix if one is available. I haven't tested that yet though.

This is what the owners have now...

Only owners. Leaders don't have access to Group CP.

Any way we can allow members to remove it themselves if they wish (via editing posts)?

Cause this mans got way too many threads for me to remove the prefix for & i'd honestly rather have him go through the hassle rather than deal with it

Tyr - November 1, 2024, 9:17 pm

I sorta agree with OP and also believe that this should be applied to reputation too because after SS decided to nuke me a bunch of people's reputation dropped since the +10 doesn't retain after removal.

Forget it , i thought by wrong that u can bulk remove them

Its my fault after all and i should withstand it , was asking Omniscient if its available in bulks anyway

Big burdons for wasting your time
