What is your biggest fear?

For me, it's probably drowning or burning alive.

Deany - October 31, 2024, 4:20 pm

Yep, tight spaces is another of mine actually. Getting stuck is a big fear for me. I once got my head caught in a railing as a kid and nearly suffocated to death before being saved by my older sister.

I avoid things like that now. Lol.

Well i think being closed in a small space ,its the worst fear of mine .Also the thing of getting old

Pigley - November 1, 2024, 2:26 pm

I fear being burned alive, skinned alive, or boiled alive, or getting dipped in concrete. Also falling from a high building and breaking every bone on my body freaks me out. Just the possibility that it could happen is unbearable.

Drowning and a fear of heights

Regulus - November 1, 2024, 3:27 pm

I have a few phobias, one of them being Thalassophobia (Deep water, not knowing how deep it is, or know what's below you)

Made a thread about it back in 2014 as well:

Damn cancer,not seeing my kids graduate. I'm really close to my kids but my youngest at 6 is my shadow. I'm terrified of the hurt that can go to my kids.
