

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: What's the best advice you've ever received?

Cooligan - October 31, 2024, 8:32 pm

Just as the title states, what was the best advice you've got in life?

One of the best things ever told to me, was long ago as a teen, and that was to not hold onto the past so much and that it'll only drag me down in the end. And well, that person was very very correct.

If you get stuck living in the past, there's no time or room for progression. It's also much harder to grow mentally as well, since you're oh so often thinking about that one mistake, or that one event you didn't attend, or that one person you hurt.

No matter what it is, don't let yourself get stuck. We're meant to be free and go get this life, don't let life get you.

diablospartan - November 1, 2024, 2:29 am

Dont trust anyone even most closest people .First i was skeptical but time prove me that people closest to you can be the biggest snakes

DashPHP - November 1, 2024, 2:53 am

Fool me once, shame on you.

Fool me twice, shame on me.

Fool me 3 times, fuck the peace sign load the gun an let it rain on youuuu

Strlder - November 1, 2024, 2:54 am

My old man was a pretty average father - however the one piece of advice that he left me which has stuck is:

The worst thing you can do in life is panic - it only makes things worse.

innocenx_4 - November 8, 2024, 2:37 am

Stop smoking lol, i think its the best

Imagine8 - November 8, 2024, 3:07 am

Take care of the pennies and the pounds will take care of themselves.

SIM-4716193 - November 8, 2024, 5:03 am

These advice was given by a vice-president of a multi-billion dollar conglomerate when I had the opportunity to spend about 1 hours during a 1 to 1 conversation with him.

1. "What ever you do (in the corporate world) be it big or small, let the word know about it"
2. Always prepare yourself for the next role (in corporate & in life)

Elaborate : There are more than 200,000 employees in this company worldwide, to stand out from the crowd once must create noise. Because, being 1 in 200k, no one has the time or patience to listen to your exception performances.

The best advice for my career!!

since then, I completely changed my career objective & my trajectory has been up - up & away!. From being just one of the thousands in my country, I was consider as the "selected handful" from the country.

ahw9n2io8wd9h - November 8, 2024, 5:03 am

If something takes less than 10 minutes to do, don't delay it.

thrutl - November 8, 2024, 8:40 am

As above so below, as within so without...

It means:

The world is as you see it, not as it actually is, if I am happy, I will interpret your words happily, If I am combative; I will assume everything you say is an attack on me personally...

We all create our own worlds and perceptions and that is how we can grow mentally by changing the mind.

Change your mind, change the world....

As above, so below, as within, so without.

PRORATTER - November 8, 2024, 9:36 am

I once overheard someone being warned about the downsides of procrastination. I absorbed that advice because it's true. Still very lazy—but it could have been worse.

TWIXX - November 8, 2024, 10:51 am

Don't be afraid to change.

Remember, if you don't change it, you choose it.

Why not change it if you don't intend on choosing it?

UltraexTrader - November 8, 2024, 11:06 am

Sit on your hand for a minute or two before jerking off.

JulienLaRoch - November 8, 2024, 11:26 am

(Nov 8, 2024 12:06 PM)UltraexTrader Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Sit on your hand for a minute or two before jerking off.

@echo on
ping 127.0.0.1 -t

..

-t-t-t-t-t-t-t-t-t-t-t-t-t-t-t

Ivanka Trump - November 8, 2024, 11:50 am

If your problem in life won't be a problem within a year, then you don't really have a problem in life. Time is amazing at solving things.

Eruditaz - November 8, 2024, 2:57 pm

Never give up on your own goal

Game - November 8, 2024, 4:40 pm

If you are facing a struggle that is out of your control, sit back relax and understand that it is what it is and realise there is nothing you can do to change it.

What you can do, is persevere and colour outside of the lines, be persistent and don't give up. All it takes is one drop of water, one ray of sunshine and one small seed to make something beautiful grow.

Everything in life is temporary, including pain and suffering, so don't go finding any permanent solutions.

Orgy - November 8, 2024, 4:45 pm

My uncle taught me when I was very young that somebody is always listening. Now obviously that's not always the case, but the idea was to act as though they were. That someone could hear whatever you're saying to someone else and to be careful what I say. Whether someone actually can overhear, or whether the person I'm talking to is going to go run their mouth.

(Nov 8, 2024 05:40 PM)Game Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If you are facing a struggle that is out of your control, sit back relax and understand that it is what it is and realise there is nothing you can do to change it. This is a good one.

Jamika - November 9, 2024, 1:00 am

(Oct 31, 2024 08:32 PM)Cooligan Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Just as the title states, what was the best advice you've got in life?

One of the best things ever told to me, was long ago as a teen, and that was to not hold onto the past so much and that it'll only drag me down in the end. And well, that person was very very correct.

If you get stuck living in the past, there's no time or room for progression. It's also much harder to grow mentally as well, since you're oh so often thinking about that one mistake, or that one event you didn't attend, or that one person you hurt.

No matter what it is, don't let yourself get stuck. We're meant to be free and go get this life, don't let life get you.

Do not completely sever ties with anyone... The person you may not like today might be someone you need to deal with in the future.

Hect0r - November 9, 2024, 2:29 am

It may be obvious but I think the best advice I have ever been given is to always be yourself and never stop chasing your dreams, working hard day by day.

The Pact - November 9, 2024, 2:31 am

(Nov 9, 2024 02:00 AM)Jamika Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Do not completely sever ties with anyone... The person you may not like today might be someone you need to deal with in the future.

Ha! People are really going against that all over the place. Blocking was supposed to be for real aggressive pests, but not a lot of people use it over the slightest thing and pretending your family members are dead is a trendy fad.