Thread: Full Convo Export

Omniscient - November 2, 2024, 3:22 pm

There is now an Export feature for Convo that will download all your chats into one txt file. It does not include images. It's very raw data but it does work.

The bottom right the Download icon....

Please note that a huge purge of older Convo messages is coming in a few weeks. I suggest you go and export what you have now. Convo started in 2019 and no messages have ever been pruned. Thus the tables are getting huge (7GB). The plan is to delete all messages older than 2 years. That should be decent enough to get it into half that size but also not hurt anything active.

Thanks.

Truee good work. Those couple gigs should ease up the query overheads too

I got to export a .txt file that is 2.5MB. Haven't been able to successfully open it yet though.

What are you trying to open it with? Shouldn't be anything to open a TXT of that size.

Standard Notepad on Windows, but it worked. It's very simplistic, but works. Thanks Omni

Never use Notepad on Windows. Get yourself Notepad++.

It's the only editor you really need. I use it for all my coding too.

Yeah, you can't see it from the phone. I will look into that. Use "Desktop Mode" to see it.

Nice addition! I haven't tested it yet but is there an "export all" option where you can export all chats into individual text files inside a zip folder or something?

Sorry if it is like that already, I only use mobile at the moment and haven't checked it out on PC yet.

Sorry if it is like that already, I only use mobile at the moment and haven't checked it out on PC yet. It doesn't export them into individual files. It's one giant file. You can probably use AI to split it up. I wasn't going to make the feature complex.

You can already export individual Convo chats into PDF's.

Fair enough, thank you for the insight though.

I'll have to look through to find anything I need to keep before the purge.

Just do full export and save it somewhere just in case. Won't hurt to get a single file.
