Who likes to burn incense in their room?

Purgatory - November 5, 2024, 12:39 pm

Fucking love incense omg. I mean, being cheap isn't easy when I walk into a store and wanna smell every fucking candle and buy all their incense sticks

DemoTester - November 5, 2024, 12:54 pm

i use to burn incenses when i was single and living in my apartment. Loved it. Then i decided to get married (still reconsidering my choice lol) and when i bought my house my wife didn't like incense and she wanted seasonal scented candles. There are some horrible smelling candles out there.

We're a candle household. My girlfriend likes Bath and Body Works and goes crazy on "Candle Day" when they have the big sale

On fridays only and not in my room tbh , my lungs are sensitive to the intense odours

Nettspend - November 5, 2024, 1:49 pm

I love it. it sets the perfect vibe!

Incense is ok once in a while

I prefer candles or something softer tho. Sometimes the incense smell is too strong

Kaleb - November 5, 2024, 2:00 pm

Back when I still smoked pot yeah but I'm not really a fan of the scents anymore now for whatever reason.

Kind of the same. Wife prefers candles. Burns them all the time. I'm less of a fan of actual flames in my home.

btw, you can get incense dirt cheap on Temu.

This is 300 pieces for $14 but you can find plenty of options at various prices.

I do like an incense once in a while.

My wife prefers candles though.

I like your burner, do you have a better picture of it?

closest I do to this is a diffuser, its on 24 hours a day, my current favourite oils are cinnamon bark cassia camphor clary sage bergamot citronella orange sweet juniper berry neroli indian lemon mandarin

I'm very funny about smells, I can't stand anything unless it's like coffee or vanilla. So sorry but that stuff smells like shit to me.

I had no clue you bought from Temu. I've never bought from them before but my wife sure has. It seems to be hit or miss on quality or picture/description accuracy. Were these good?

I usually do wax melters, candles sometimes, and oil diffusers.

Clue - November 5, 2024, 4:32 pm

I HAVE THAT EXACT SAME BURNER FROM TEMU TOO!

My local headshop stocked Wild Berry incense, I didn't like the majority of them, but there was one that smelt exactly like aftershave and that was my favourite... I think it was called 'Wizard' and stocked up on those bad boys.

I don't particularly like the common incense smell.

Miles Teller - November 5, 2024, 4:39 pm

I've spent a lot of time in the middle east and no matter how much I try to like incense, I can't get over how bad it smells to me

JulienLaRoch - November 8, 2024, 11:23 am

I use air purifier smell like hospital 24/7
and lemon pledge

Mercury - November 8, 2024, 1:30 pm

Incense is great. I don't get to burn it as much as I'd like with the kids around and what not but when I do, I always burn Nag Champa. That shit is amazing.

Game - November 8, 2024, 4:08 pm

I like burning incense. My wife is a candle freak though and finds incense to be too strong.

I'd definitely go for an incense.
