Details

Honeygain is a safe (feel free to Google) it organisation that pays you to share your internet bandwidth. I've been using them for over a year and have accumulated - to date - about $70 USD in earnings from a single device left on for I'd say about 80% of the time.

They pay to PayPal or in JMPT tokens (+10% bonus), a BNB chain token that can be swapped at most major crypto swap sites. I use <https://ff.io> (FixedFloat).

The screenshots above are of my PayPal withdrawals and my JMPT profit. 1000 points = $1, so roughly $65 withdrawn to date and my balance in Honeygain right now is close to 10K points so another $10 waiting.

Clients are available for Windows, Mac, Linux distributions, and iOS (foreground only).

If you decide to give it a try, I would appreciate using my affiliate link. By using the link, you also get $3 right off the bat, for free. I get 25% of your profits as commission at no cost to you, so it's a win-win for both of us.

Actually just checked and I earned about $10 in October. Might be more accurate to say this is a $100/year opportunity.

Bump. Rapidly approaching my next payout.

I am not seeing the screens, tho, is the value right? around 100$ per YEAR?

There had been a case where people rented out their traffic at home and got their home's raided by the feds. Watch out and make sure that site is trustable.

Yes. Per year. It's not a lot - less than a dollar a day - but it's completely passive, doesn't suck energy (one could literally run the Docker container on an rpi), and can be set up reliably in literally less than 5 minutes.

Sure. I just Googled it and here's my top finding, for any interested. Proceed at your own risk, of course, though I will be continuing to use the service for passive income.

Hi --

For PayPal, $20 minimum.

For $JMPT tokens (which you can later swap for other crypto), no minimum - it's paid to your JMPT wallet.

I signed up with your ref link, but it seems there's no option to download a version able to be used on a Chromebook? It's a shame if that's the case.
