Thoughts on when ETH will cross ATH? I predict next week.

UltraexTrader - November 11, 2024, 5:26 pm

That's a brave prediction but not impossible at all. BTC is almost 90k$ at the time of writing this message

Plague - November 11, 2024, 7:02 pm

If this momentum keeps up it could be very soon

Marvelous - November 11, 2024, 8:48 pm

BTC goes up then Alts go up, then memes and NFT's go up. The cycle doesnt change and the human impulse to spend easy money on dumb things doesnt change.

Omniscient - November 12, 2024, 9:33 am

Just shared that screenshot in another thread. Dump your ETH in favor of BTC.

ETH still down 33% from ATH while BTC passing it. Doesn't even matter if in a few weeks ETH does hit their ATH, BTC still better profit. And personally don't think it's going to hit $5k anytime soon. BTC will likely be $120k when it does.

Sell that ETH and swap it for BTC.

Yin Yang - November 12, 2024, 9:43 am

ETH swap fees suck dick: <https://etherscan.io/gastracker>

And no, I don't want to use a L2 to do it.

I am sad for eth , when it was released at first i thought it will make good competition, now its losing its value , it deserve to raise higher than this

Marvelous - November 12, 2024, 11:02 am

BTC pumps then alts follow.

BTC ATH in 2021 was on the 14th and ETH's ATH was on the 29th.

People are always hating on ETH and thats fine idc but it is literally the only sustainable PoS blockchain that NEVER goes down, and is deflationary. The reason the fees are so high(lol $2) is because the inflation rate basically pays for your transactions. You can only be artificial for so long.

Also you never hear about major banks, SWIFT, Blackrock and other firms, etc.. talk about building in Solana, but they literally have a project called BUIDL on ETH. They are quietly testing tokenization of assets using private versions of ETH and using LINK to transact between the private blockchains. ETH is battle tested, secure as fuck and relatively cheap compared to what it takes to transact on SWIFT and other networks. Layer 2's on ETH are also faster, more secure, and cheaper than even the best blockchains out right now.

All people seem to care about is number go up now.

Nit0 - November 12, 2024, 1:02 pm

ETH up 33% for the month not too bad

"ETH IS RETARDED TOKEN LOOK AT BTC PERFORMANCE LOL NOOB RETARDED ETH BUYERS ARE RETARDED" - the start of every bull market pre-rotation

.Infinity. - November 13, 2024, 2:59 pm

Probably 60-90 days depending on how long the next correction lasts.

fuck i haven't seen you online in years, hope you been well ahah rotation always happens, it's just a matter of you want to try time it or just left curve it imo

Lol same bro, hope you been doing good.

I'm not usually a time the market type of trader, but when it's beyond obvious that BTC.D is very close to topping out, it only makes sense to rotate into alts.

ETH is fine, the infrastructure built to support ETH isn't just going to disappear, however I think the days of EVM reigning supreme are numbered. Non-EVM chains are massively more impressive. Nobody actually wants to use an ecosystem fractured across dozens of L2's, other than those already well-embedded into the EVM landscape.

I'm excited for the next 3-5 years.

When ETH and all the memecoins outperform BTC this year I think all these people are gonna be so mad, especially Omniscient.

True. I'm not always a great messenger that doesn't make my message wrong.

Why would I be mad at all? I don't give a fuck if ETH goes to $100k and passes BTC. Why would I get mad? You're the one likely deeply invested in meme's. Best of luck to you and hey, I hope all your picks turn out to be amazing earners. But I'm stating my opinion when I say I think anyone not having 90% BTC as their portfolio is making a massive mistake. Take it as you will. I can produce so many arguments, I can yell, curse, scream, show screenshots, doesn't matter...most people gonna do their thing that they believe will make them rich.

I'm the guy trying to tell you that you should focus on risk management, asset protection, and long-term goals. If you don't like that, well power to you. Roll them dice!

You did in fact close the thread I had rebutting your post about how 97% of meme coins are dead because the same people who conducted that study are listing and pumping meme coins.

Boomer mentality.

thrudda - November 20, 2024, 6:23 am

I'm a holder of ETH & hope it hits a new ATH but recently ETH is under performing. It even hit an 4-year low against Bitcoin as BTC breaks above $94k.
