Let's see what HF got ? Post the most recent photo of your dog/cat

I'm thinking to get a puppy for my son but still haven't decided

My dog died 5 years ago, since this happened I swore that I would never get another dog. It's good when you have them, but one day, they die...

I recommend you to have at least two, but not at the same time, like getting the second one few years after the first one, so when the first one dies, at least your son will still have the second one, it could help to be less rude, I guess.

I'm sorry for your loss ? it's actually normal to feel this way when you make a bond, it's impossible to replace it.

2 is impossible to get, because it's a small house I have thoughts on getting only one.
