Thread: Mike Tyson lost to Jake Paul!

Purgatory - November 15, 2024, 9:50 pm

For me, this is absolutely upsetting and was extremely unfortunate to watch. I watched it Live for 4 hours and was hoping I would get to see Tyson kick Jakes fucking ass. Well, that was not the case. Tyson hardly landed any and threw 97 punches with only 18 landing. Jake threw over 200 and had over 100 land. What did you guys think about this outcome? What did you expect to happen?

F4tDoinkz - November 15, 2024, 9:53 pm

I had a feeling he would lose. Jake Paul's fights are scripted. That was the stupidest most rigged fight I think I have ever seen.

Charlie Sheen - November 15, 2024, 9:55 pm

There were several times where Jake held back out of fear of knocking Tyson out. He would land a vicious combo that would shake Tyson. Any other fighter would go on the attack but Jake held back proving it was scripted.

It was very sad. If you think about it Tyson averaged 2 punches per round.

The females before the match had more heart in the fight.

I do like what Mike said though, fuck pleasing the people he just needed to prove himself he still got it.

Fuck Logan for thinking he'd be anywhere near able to kill Mike. Like he 58. Calm the fuck down shon

Desiree Washington in a hotel room and Erinn Cosby in the trophy room.

I hate the fact that they pulled a stunt last night with Tyson hitting Jake with a slap. That must've brought in some interest, new viewers and subscribers to Netflix for the live show.

Still the fight sucked big time. Wonder if Netflix has lost money on it.

It was a glorified spar.

Exactly my thoughts as well. I was very confident Jake was going to win by decision. People saying it is rigged are ignorant imo. Mike clearly gave it his all, he is just 58 fucking years old. His mind is faster than his body by several magnitudes. His only chance of winning was a KO or a very nice crack early on, he wasn't going to win the war of attrition. It was very sad to watch though, I think Mike partially regrets it (shown by him crying) but desperately needed the 20m and did what he had to do. Respect to Mike for that, he truly has no ego, despite the persona he is known to have.

Never cared about Jake, but there's only 1 thing in this world , which is Money-.
Jake could have finished tyson there anyways.

Probably part of the contract no one gets destroyed and end on good terms and both paid or perhaps jake actually respected tyson lul?

People who are questioning this fight shouldn't be questioning. Like use common sense and logic. This was all for money. Tyson is nearly 60 ffs

If Jake wants to fight. Then fight a top boxer in current time. But he won't because he won't have his ass left.
