

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Begginers Hacking

RedeemTheBad - November 18, 2024, 10:08 pm

Hello Everyone,

I was wondering if anyone would like to connect any kind of way and just discuss Begginers hacking and fourms. Kind of getting back into the community and want to have a few solid ideas and possible stepping stones!

I'm game pretty much for any good wise old knowledge or wisdom you could spread.

I am basically starting fresh

Bastille - November 19, 2024, 12:26 am

Hello,

Just make threads when you need something and people will answer, don't expect finding someone who could mentor you, it's too time consuming

Hope to see you around

RedeemTheBad - November 19, 2024, 12:30 am

Really? That's part of it though, right? Teaching others and learning from anyone with the given chance is a what makes it fun

DramaKing - November 19, 2024, 5:37 am

There's plenty of beginner guides around.

RedeemTheBad - November 19, 2024, 1:30 pm

Could you shoot me in the directions

Titles to books, good worth my time guides possibly directions to the link!

dotman094 - September 30, 2025, 7:59 am

(Nov 18, 2024 11:08 PM)RedeemTheBad Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hello Everyone,

I was wondering if anyone would like to connect any kind of way and just discuss Begginers hacking and fourms. Kind of getting back into the community and want to have a few solid ideas and possible stepping stones!

I'm game pretty much for any good wise old knowledge or wisdom you could spread.

I am basically starting fresh

Hey man, welcome back.

If you're rusty on the basics, grab "The Web Application Hacker's Handbook" (free PDF floats around here) and run through PortSwigger's labs—they're free and browser-based.

For forum etiquette: hit 15 helpful posts first, then you unlock the rest of the boards; till then no links in posts or you'll catch a warning.

Feel free to PM me once you hit Member status if you want a nudge on where to go next.

Enjoy the stay!

(Nov 19, 2024 01:26 AM)Bastille Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hello,

Just make threads when you need something and people will answer, don't expect finding someone who could mentor you, it's too time consuming

Hope to see you around

Fair point—most people here won't hold your hand, but if you ask a specific question (tool choice, error screenshot, walk-through step you're stuck on) you'll usually get a solid answer within a few hours.

Search first, then thread.

See you around.