

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: I Managed to Crash My Motorbike Twice in One Journey

Effexion - November 22, 2024, 10:02 am

The roads were icy and the skies full of hail and snow but I had places I needed to be. I decided to brave the elements and take my bike out; this turned into an expensive mistake.

I first started fishtailing as soon as I came off the main roads, so I whacked on those hazards, dangled my feet for support and dropped my speed down to around 10 MPH. The back wheel flicked on occasion, causing brief moments of panic, but I kept her upright right until I was pulling into the kerb at my destination. The wheel just went completely, throwing me to the ground where I landed on my shoulder and back.

After wheeling my bike off the icy back streets, I took a moment to take stock and assess the damage. The gear lever was jammed in a 12 O'clock position but I continued home (albeit loudly and stuck in second).

Screaming in second and with a sore side, I got my beloved steed (almost) all the way home, where I came off again when mounting the pavement at a drop-kerb.

I managed to realign the gear lever but my fairings are full of scrapes. ?

Stay frosty out there!

Regulus - November 22, 2024, 10:13 am

Hope you're okay though, and well... don't drive your motorcycle during winter times haha <3

Effexion - November 22, 2024, 10:14 am

(Nov 22, 2024 11:13 AM)Regulus Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hope you're okay though, and well... don't drive your motorcycle during winter times haha <3

A little sore but I still have all my limbs lol. It's my only form of transport, so sadly I need to ride it in all weathers.

Regulus - November 22, 2024, 10:17 am

(Nov 22, 2024 11:14 AM)Effexion Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) A little sore but I still have all my limbs lol. It's my only form of transport, so sadly I need to ride it in all weathers.

Glad to hear, hope for a speedy recovery!

Ahhh I see I see, damn yeah that kinda sucks in that case haha :/

Jamika - November 22, 2024, 10:33 am

(Nov 22, 2024 11:02 AM)Effexion Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The roads were icy and the skies full of hail and snow but I had places I needed to be. I decided to brave the elements and take my bike out; this turned into an expensive mistake.

I first started fishtailing as soon as I came off the main roads, so I whacked on those hazards, dangled my feet for support and dropped my speed down to around 10 MPH. The back wheel flicked on occasion, causing brief moments of panic, but I kept her upright right until I was pulling into the kerb at my destination. The wheel just went completely, throwing me to the ground where I landed on my shoulder and back.

After wheeling my bike off the icy back streets, I took a moment to take stock and assess the damage. The gear lever was jammed in a 12 O'clock position but I continued home (albeit loudly and stuck in second).

Screaming in second and with a sore side, I got my beloved steed (almost) all the way home, where I came off again when mounting the pavement at a drop-kerb.

I managed to realign the gear lever but my fairings are full of scrapes. ?

Stay frosty out there!

Damn this looks like a hard fall , hope u didnt get yourself injured hard

Effexion - November 22, 2024, 10:34 am

(Nov 22, 2024 11:33 AM)Jamika Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Damn this looks like a hard fall , hope u didnt get yourself injured hard

Not too badly. I'm a bit sore down one side but nothing a bit of cocodomol isn't fixing lol.

RangoWorld - November 22, 2024, 10:59 am

Boy you are lucky if you didn't do yourself damage.

Bikes on water is a no go let alone on ice. Specially if it is running at any decent speed.

Nettspend - November 23, 2024, 11:18 am lol looks wicked man glad your good

Sick4n - November 23, 2024, 2:03 pm

Im glad it didnt end up worse.

Hope your doing good.

Happy wknd

Stay safe & Take care

Mercury - November 23, 2024, 2:05 pm

I'm really glad you're okay man but for fuck's sake...I would never take my crotch rocket out with snow/ice on the ground.

Nevertheless, bikes can be replaced but you cannot. Safe travels fellow rider.

codeine. - November 23, 2024, 3:36 pm

That's insane bro you got some balls of steel doin that in the snow haha glad you safe man. wouldnt wana lose ya can always get another bike shes still a beauty

Rooney00 - November 23, 2024, 3:58 pm

Hope you didnt hurt yourself ..

Leave the motorcycle bro its not safe as you are inside in the car ??

vp240 - November 25, 2024, 1:31 am

damn!! glad ur alright bro

SIM-2362145 - November 26, 2024, 7:08 am

That is nasty be careful dear.