Who has had the biggest influence on your life so far?

I would say it would be my mentor who taught me a lot and showed me what career path i wanted to be on.

This dude I used to hangout with really helped turn me into what I am today. He's about 10 years older than I am. It was great in alot of ways but not so much in others.

A great mentor can truly shape your direction and inspire confidence in your goals. It's awesome that they had such a meaningful impact on your journey. What's one piece of advice from your mentor that stuck with you the most?
