Wow, that is quite impressive. But please don't take this habit further. Having HF on your forehead could lead to unexpected reactions.

I hope I didn't give you any ideas by posting this. lol ?

Hahah I used a tac for a wall, ink mixed with ashes, and just stick and poke

Mooooookie - November 29, 2024, 1:52 am

Nice. You're the second person now that I've seen get HF tattooed on them since I've been here. If that's not loyalty, then I don't know what is. May I ask what motivated you, or gave you the idea to go thru with it?

I've been wanting too see I joined. but I was offered $20 btc so like what not lol.. and hf has helped me get thru things I don't talk about. so it's deep

Miles Teller - November 29, 2024, 2:13 am

That's awesome. How long does it stay or is it permanent?

Let's see if you fix up your deal disputes....

PRORATTER - December 2, 2024, 6:48 pm

Did you remember to disinfect the area before poking? There is always a risk of blood poisoning. D:

Just expressing concern for a fellow HF member.

Well done, anyway. lol :-)

There is a second one.

Hackers - December 3, 2024, 6:14 am

is it just me or does this look like sharpie / not a tat?

Imagine8 - December 3, 2024, 6:22 am

I mean...as long as you like it then fair enough!

Yeah I've done a stick & poke with stamping ink before - twice.

I don't see anything in OP's photos that suggest this is a tattoo tbh. Just not seeing any of the blood, swelling, red areas, etc.

MAYBE OP did a super thin line in the sharpie area, and it's just hard to see & fresh, but I don't know.

Just seems off.

if it walks like a sharpie marker
and tastes like a sharpie marker
and it quacks
then it's definitely a duck.

but yeah, that looks like a sharpie for clout, not a tat of HF.

OP, can you share an updated photo? Would like to see the actual scar tissue proof here. thx
