What's the superior HF season?

- Are you a classic summer fan, living for those legendary scorchers?
- A fall warrior, basking in the perfect tactical hoodie weather?
- Or do you embrace the frozen hellscape of winter and claim it builds character?
- Don't forget spring, where everything blooms except our patience.

Sound off below and let's see who's got the best argument!

Hello team winter here :)

Winter ! I love it when it's cold and dry outside, sometimes with the sun. I used to go to the mountains in France for winter holidays to snowboard, but I lost my job after a burnout a year ago, so no snowboarding this year ?.

I enjoy wearing long and warm coats in winter. The nights come earlier, and I find it relaxing to walk outside when it's dark. There are usually fewer people out during winter too, making it much calmer than summer.

I love the winter because i love watching the snow fall. But the downside to winter is people dont know how to drive in the snow and there are many accidents.

Fall/Autumn is def my favorite. Football starts up and the weather cools off for hoodie season. I like the cool breeze without freezing.

Mine used to be the winter then I hugged a tree.

I like winter but not so much with snow and all that it becomes a pain in the ass
