Wait it out, just don't be surprised if they all get sniped.

Sahgid - December 9, 2024, 11:03 am

What's the 5090? If there's any previous to it.

7 - December 9, 2024, 11:06 am

yeah a 4090 lol

Im thinking about running a competition for one too.

Beherit - December 20, 2024, 4:31 am

5090, looking forward to the increased VRAM.

G Eazy - December 25, 2024, 7:54 am

I'm waiting over here

Not long to go.

Any estimations on price?

Nvidia GeForce RTX 5090 release date

The RTX 5090 release date is Thursday, January 30, 2025, when Nvidia says the new GPU will be on store shelves. Nvidia announced the new GPU at CES 2025 on January 6.

Nvidia GeForce RTX 5090 price

The RTX 5090 price is $1,999 at MSRP, which we expect to be the price for the Founders Edition when it's released. We expect overclocked graphics cards from third parties to have higher prices.

Who getting it same day?

wow nice, very nice.

N604 - January 7, 2025, 11:31 am

Im not sure how big will be the difference, since the 40 series is so good with the AI tech, I guess we'll have to wait n' see!

Havent played new one yet tbh.

Im waiting for new card. I only got 3070 ti Super but my screen is 59" dual 4k so I'm waiting for 5090

7 - January 9, 2025, 2:20 am

Mine is Rog Strix i9 14 core laptop with 64gb ram

But plugged in external screen until I finish this new build. Waiting on the 5090

Im not into the new age cartoon shit either.

(Jan 9, 2025 03:12 AM)Virulentus Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I have to admit its pretty good but could have done without the stupid cartoon skins and other kid stuff.

I'm on the 3070 as well.... Alienware aurora so just need to decide if its worth trying to upgrade a few components or time to just get the latest rig.

Didnt realise your Panik.

NulldB here lol

(Jan 9, 2025 05:00 AM)Virulentus Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You like the gaming laptops? I was always leery about them but I'm sure now they've come far enough to be plenty good enough for my uses.

And fucking lol that's hilarious, I figured you were somebody from back then just couldn't tell who :blackhat:

Do I like gaming laptops. Umm, well tbh I don't however this one I fully upgraded the hardware because I was travelling more often and its very handy carrying a i9 14 core, 64gb Ram, 2 x 2tb 980 pros and 3070ti around with you if you want something portable to do some damage. Like moving country for months travelling I mean. I mostly use it as a shell though now big of a waste of 4-5k I originally spent on it (with the upgrades) around 2 years ago I think.

For short trips like a day out I use

ASUS 14.0 Zenbook DUO OLED UX8406MA Gray (Core Ultra 9 185H 32Gb 2Tb Win 11) 14.0 OLED WUXGA (1920x1200) Touch Glare, Intel Core Ultra 9 185H (16x Core, 6x 5.1GHz, 8x 3.8GHz, 2x 2.5GHz, 24Mb), 32Gb (Onboard) LPDDR5X, 2Tb PCIE, UX8406MA-QL099W

Having two full screen whilst be very portable is better IMO

I mainly pack a macbook around during the day just to use to hit a jump box like you mentioned but would maybe like the option to have more power in a portable package if I wanted to run any games on the go or just away from my desk.

Yeah you can have it landscape too but its better like I shown in the image.

Actually, the ultra 9 performs remarkably well.
