Thread: [\[How-To\] Sell Crypto for Fiat](#)

PappyProxy - December 16, 2024, 5:25 pm

Looking if there are any well known websites where I send crypto to receive to bank the next day or as such.

I have a good feeling about a few of my altcoins they're already above even now (green).

I want to be ready to sell out tbh.

HOW? WHERE?

If I have say USDT BTC ETH

Tons of options for Same-Day. Are you in USA? And you have to do KYC in all the services I'm aware of.

The easiest option imho is Strike.

I am using binance p2p option for exchanging crypto to my local currency.

Kraken is the best for that. I usually get my deposits the next day, as long as it's business days. If you really want a same day crypto exchange, I'd go with peer to peer exchanges personally. Usually they charge around 5-10% depending on which app you use. Definitely would recommend Zelle since the IRS isn't going after that yet for next year (1099k form for $600+, for cash app , PayPal, Venmo etc.)

I've been using coinbase without any issues and they have instant withdrawals

No issues until you have issues....and one day, you'll have issues. Don't trust. Make sure to have another service.

Very true I see posts online all the time of people getting screwed over. I only use them for buying/selling and keep everything stored elsewhere so I guess if I ever run into any issues I'll swap. I used to use binance but I stopped when they switched to having a US specific version

There is easily a half-dozen decent services that compete with Coinbase which are US based. I pretty much use all of them. Try Crypto.com.
