Thread: How to make money with Cryptocurrency?

JNath - December 17, 2024, 10:14 am

I have some holdings but I have been keeping them since 2019 and they are just increasing without me doing anything like trading or anything. I try to withdraw some money when I'm in need of cash. Unfortunately I withdrew too much in last 2 years and could have saved and made so much money but I wasn't that lucky.

I was wondering how can I make money from memecoins or other Cryptocurrencies.

You are already making money with your investments. Don't be so greedy with it. Memecoins are mostly luck / chance. You should never be investing anything more than a tiny bit of your portfolio in meme or shitcoins.

One way to potentially increase your money in crypto is to do trading. But I think you will not make more than what you have been doing in long term since inexperienced traders mostly just lose money and it will no longer be a passive income for you.

Another way to make money with Crypto might be to work in the technology. Be part of projects, make something, solve something. Help Blockchain. That's of course not an easy thing to do.

I can't give you any advice on meme coins, but if you're looking for a way to gain some crypto.. find a service or product to sell. This is a great way to earn crypto, as most sales are conducted thru crypto on the site. Could get yourself some combolists, crack some accounts, and start selling them.

you will need some help, I have a friend who has his friend who has bitcoins, and I would like a good guide on how I can infect my friend's phone or email so I can get to his friend who has bitcoins.
I appreciate any help thanks

Some friend you are. You're a terrible human being. I can't believe you just want to steal what other people have.

If you want to trade, it'll take a lot of practice, extreme discipline, and probably losing money before you start profiting. If you want to passively make income from crypto, but Bitcoin, then continue buying Bitcoin until you die! lol

Like working on projects and new up and coming crypto companies. You have to be a tech savy though.

Maybe look into derivative exchanges and trade there VERY responsibly.
