Thread: Did you ever go Christmas carolling

Deany - December 17, 2024, 12:49 pm

I did a few times before , but now I don't anymore. Is it a thing still where you are?

Yes, I went carolling when I was young and knocked on someone's door, they then proceeded to say "it's too early" and shut the door in my face. Good times

I am the actual worse singer in the world. So going caroling couldn't be less appealing to me. I don't mind listening to them though. I'm just not enough of a sociopath to choose to inflict the pain that my singing would cause upon innocent people.

Never did it at all, but i do get ambushed some times though at night. I just trip out because my place is semi secluded so I always wonder how they get there and I never know it's them till I open the door .

No, but I've never actually seen anyone doing it. It must be from a different time. Do people still do this?

Miles Teller - December 20, 2024, 11:25 am

No simply because I am terrible at singing and would probably ruin Christmas for people if I sang to them

RangoWorld - December 21, 2024, 3:53 am

Nope. Never did. Never was into it. Probably won't ever do it.
