Thread: Did you ever return/sell a Christmas gift?

Deany - December 17, 2024, 2:12 pm

Ever returned or resold an xmas gift you didn't like or want? If so, what was it lol

AiDenti - December 17, 2024, 2:15 pm

Every year my aunt spends 25 dollars to give me a 20 dollar visa gift card. Every year I put it in my desk drawer and use it to buy her gift next year. She's been buying her own christmas gift for about 10 years now.

That is hella nice of you ?

I haven't done any of these but I have regifted a few presents. I got a vacuum cleaner one year and it was mainly for cleaning up dog hair, I didn't have a dog and lived in a small apartment with hardwood floors so I gave it to someone else as a christmas gift

She scams herself twice.

I received a double up once so I had to sell one.

DemonAsylum - December 17, 2024, 4:09 pm

I definitely don't recall ever returning something. I've for sure however technically sold something down the line that I got as a present. It wasn't a matter of not liking or using it ever though. It just became something I didn't need or want after however much time.

Yin Yang - December 17, 2024, 5:03 pm

I think it was an undersized sweater

Did you return it or swap it for a bigger size?

I was going to mention clothes for my previous reply, but I felt like that was kind of a standard one. Also it was a case of giving it back to who gave it to me and then they refund it and such. So no loss to them and no biggie for me.

Ah bugger. I hope the person gifting it didn't feel too bad.

That would be a cold day in hell.

The day that Sox returns sox is the day I request closure. It can never happen.

Got some examples of what you've returned?

Facts. If this weren't true than I wouldn't keep getting them gifted to me every year ?

Bashe - December 19, 2024, 11:55 pm

I've done it a couple times, don't remember the gifts exactly, but they weren't specific to Christmas.

oRequiem - December 20, 2024, 12:24 am

I've never sold or return any Christmas gifts.

That's crazy. You must've never been given gift you didn't want.

Yeah, I'm pretty clear on the gifts I would accept.

BlackRock - December 20, 2024, 2:27 am

I did. I had a Nintendo Wii on my wishlist, I sold it after about a week. :P

Agreed, thats why you gotta give and ask for the receipts.

Beherit - December 20, 2024, 2:54 am

Depending on what they were, either I never opened the box it came in, like some cologne or something but never used it.

But no, never returned anything. I keep everything.

sharn - December 20, 2024, 3:17 am

Yes, I re-gifted a bottle of wine.

I am not a wine drinker, but my friend appreciated it.

Jamika - December 20, 2024, 3:50 am

I never sells any gift i get , i even have gifts still from a girl when i was in primary school lol

Michael - December 23, 2024, 7:23 am

That's not very nice to do though.

XtremeDiscount - December 23, 2024, 7:59 am

Never returned any Christmas gifts, but there's definitely a few I should've returned haha

$!uo2H%gE# - December 23, 2024, 11:43 am

I sold it once because I didn't need it (I already had one) and I felt stupid returning it to the person who gave it to me.

DanielZ - December 23, 2024, 4:31 pm

Yes, only clothing, because it was smaller or larger, I went to get my size.

figghiozzu - December 30, 2024, 12:49 pm

No, why should I ask for or return gifts? They are gifts, and they remain that way, to hell with it if it ruins the relationship.

ariluvs - May 18, 2025, 8:41 pm

No, i feel like it beats the purpose of it being a gift to you. i would rather treasure it until its time to throw it away
