Thread: Do you work over the Christmas period?

Chrome - December 17, 2024, 3:59 pm

I work in retail so I am working right up til Christmas. Back at work on Boxing day...

Clue - December 17, 2024, 4:01 pm

I get Christmas Eve and Christmas Day off officially, but non-officially no one does any work so i basically have time off. If urgent tasks pop up over the holidays I'll work otherwise I can chill

DemonAsylum - December 17, 2024, 4:02 pm

You get Christmas Eve off as well or just Christmas itself?

Gotcha. I guess it just comes down to the retail place. Many are open on Eve, many not.

That's way too sad of a way too look at things around the holidays, fr ?

vvs1 - December 17, 2024, 4:43 pm

Probably will work till the 23rd , then off till after Christmas.

I'd like to think I'm off till after new year but I'm on call so it depends. Might have to check in once or twice but I should resume regular hrs after new year.

Doesn't sound too bad at least or so long as you don't get called in I suppose. Fingers crossed for ya to be unbothered haha.

I seem to get stitched up most years, my weekends have often fallen on Christmas so I don't get any extra days off. This year is the first where it hasn't landed on my RDO.

That kinda blows, but so this year is better for ya then, yeah?

I'm in construction management . Taking some programs next year to try and change it up a bit though. Would like to try something new

Oh yeah, you'll be back in no time haha. That industry is under the pump.

I always use my vacation days around Christmas to have a proper holiday break.

Bashe - December 19, 2024, 7:32 am

Nope, and I took vacation-time for the whole month.

Jamika - December 19, 2024, 8:26 am

This year i take all week as weekoff , not for Christmas exclactly

M1L3NK0 - December 19, 2024, 10:10 am

Luckily not this year. I'm about to switch dealerships & the department I work in; my last day at my current dealership is tomorrow & my start date for my new dealership is the 30th. Solid week+ off for Christmas.

BlackRock - December 19, 2024, 10:48 am

I work everyday man. 7 days a week from home.

Jinu - December 19, 2024, 11:07 am

I don't work during Christmas, as I usually take time off to relax and spend it with family. I can imagine how hectic retail work can be during the holidays, though! Hopefully, you get some downtime after all the rush.
