amendment - December 18, 2024, 5:40 pm

Good evening, again. There used to be a chat box that was live where it would show members online. A guy would sit in there & say I will hack any website. You paste the website in & he gives you back the admins login & password within literally seconds. There is no way that's possible in this time & age with cryptocurrency being so mainstream & having sec big gov approval too. Aside from there having been cash bank accounts back then though too. I was a kid so I would give him all of the video games that I'd play. How did he do that within seconds? There is no way.

Aside from that, I am currently suing the United States government for them placing me in dozens of mental institutions without due process including false imprisonments with dismissal charges separate than the insane asylums. Yet, the lower court judge & the higher court keeps siding with the defendant being the United States general counsel. I even got them an injunctive relief team. An injunctive relief means the United States is authorized to sign protection. Yet, the judge allowed them to insult me & still dismissed my case. I showed them my competency signed as competent by federal judges & doctors.

There was business espionage, interceptions & lethal cyberattacks. A female from the Internal Revenue Service started reading my phone contacts on speaker. Which I just ignored, until I started getting placed in the psych wards randomly. I was vacationing when it happened. One time I was having back surgery & with zero time to recover I was placed in it again. I listed several names of the women that stalked me, showed up at my house including Chinese Civilian Spies (females with their male-counterparts) separate than the American women.

Even one time during court ordered therapy for not having insurance, a bunch of other cameras of others popped up. I went to go place a police report to the department & the officer said that he's not able to do it. So I went to the University Police & again I was mentally institutionalized. (Not to go off on a tangent or sidetrack but Thank God my operatives are free & it is a multi national conglomerate. Just in case it's oh: well clearly that's why everything in America is for profit you can't have the government do it for you. No, the company is free for personal users that are non enterprise).

I filed the case en banc yet that motion got denied too. En banc means all of their federal judges from that court have to show up when there's a case without due process or wrongful doctors. That's not a valid reason to place somebody under a conservatorship in a probate court or guardianship & take away their kids when the government is antagonizing, provoking, instigating, giving death threats & playing devils advocate. I even reported human trafficking & unlawful deaths not to sound ironic or hypocritical since I'm on this website? I gave the courts all of their full names & phone numbers of the said government employees. Yet to no avail.

Oh, you're one of those people.

Websites could be hacked a lot easier 15 years ago. And if you don't want to be declared mentally disturbed, don't spout crazy-sounding stuff. I'm just saying that I'm not convinced the courts violated your rights. Or that you're being attacked by spies.

It sounds like moving to a remote island would solve all of your problems.
