

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Who likes ChromeBook? *Touch

Spam Assassin - December 18, 2024, 11:27 pm

Who likes ChromeBook? The touch ones! With PEN! I personally had a ChromeBook since past 6 months but started using it as a daily dose for workout jobs since past two weeks and I had been loving it. Really worth the purchase now as I think!

One good thing is the touch screen feature which has helped me get pass my laptop cringe of using its touch pad, I really hated it! Touch pads were so much a burden for me to work with SSH (linux) but touch has helped me a lot now.

Who else uses Chromebook? And how is your experience? I use a PEN with it which works very good for typing as well, I just write whatever's in my mind and it simply just get typed once I finish and the tracking so good with the magic pen that I can write at the scale of me writing in a pad with a pencil!

Biggy_Asian - December 19, 2024, 7:05 pm

They're weak asf and run like shit. I used them in school and will never use them again. I'd rather use those really ancient, shitty, weak and fat as fuck laptops that have 2gb of ram and a Pentium cpu from 2004.

Spam Assassin - December 19, 2024, 9:38 pm

(Dec 19, 2024 08:05 PM)Biggy_Asian Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) They're weak asf and run like shit. I used them in school and will never use them again. I'd rather use those really ancient, shitty, weak and fat as fuck laptops that have 2gb of ram and a Pentium cpu from 2004.

How can you say they are weak as f? I been doing great with them, maybe your school had bad specs, mine with 16G of RAM i7 gen 9 works smooth af. I even was able to dual boot it to make it abit invested.

You can't compare it to a 2GB pentium? Wtf?